Action Sought on Putting Affordable Housing Units On Shirley, Maclean Sites

The Borough Affordable Housing Board has issued a strongly worded statement to Borough Council urging resumption of construction plans for new affordable housing on the Shirley Court and Maclean Street sites. These are two sites that the Borough acquired several years ago for this purpose.

The statement was expected to be discussed in work session at Borough Council on Tuesday evening, October 7, along with a report on the affordable housing program to date by Louise Shaw, housing director, and a discussion by Administrator Tom Shannon of the affordable housing trust budget. Mr. Shannon was also expected to present a financial management plan for the trust, with long-term revenue projections and cost estimates for rehabilitation and for new construction.

The statement notes that since the completion of 24 units at John and Clay Street and on Hamilton Avenue, "little progress has been made to add to the stock of new affordable units" in the Borough. In 1994, the Council approved a Revised Affordable Housing Plan that proposed meeting all of the Borough's remaining commitment to affordable housing with rehabilitated units.

"Council also authorized the purchase of several isolated structures

SuperFresh Grocery Store to Close This Month After 43 Years in Princeton Shopping Center

The SuperFresh supermarket at the Princeton Shopping Center will close on October 25, according to Michael Rourke, vice president for public affairs at the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. corporate headquarters in Montvale. Great Atlantic — or A&P — is the store's parent company.

Employees say deliveries to the Princeton storo have stopped; and that it cannot possibly remain open for even two more weeks. SuperFresh will close its doors for the last time on Saturday, October 11, at 6 p.m., they declare.

"Management came in last Friday [October 3] and told us we would be closing this coming Saturday," explained Rob Bachman, a manager in the Meat Department.

A crew of employees will be kept on for two weeks to clear out the inventory, said Bob Wright, dairy manager and shop steward for the store's unit of United Food & Commercial Workers (UFCW) Local 1360. By union contract, management is required to give employees at least 20 days' notice of a store closing, he said.

The work force consists of about 40 part-time employees and perhaps 10 full-time workers, Mr. Wright said, all of whom are covered by union contract.

The seven meat cutters and workers at the delicatessen counter are represented by UFCW Local 56. Saturday is definitely the last day for his members, Mr. Bachman said.

The retail grocery store has been at its present location since the Shopping Center opened in 1954. Originally an A&P store, it closed in 1990, to re-open several months later as SuperFresh.

Former employees were re-hired at a lower wage and a loss of benefits, according to Mr. Wright, who started working part-time at the store in 1957. He was 16, and walked to work after classes at Princeton High School.

"I've been through it all before," he declared. "For a long time I was bitter, but what are you going to do?"

"The store just wasn't up to standards as far as revenues were concerned," was Mr. Rourke's explanation. When told that employees were saying no customers would be served after October 11, he insisted his information was different.

"We have been hearing rumors about closing for a long time," Mr. Wright said. "When McCaffrey's Market came in here five years ago,

Stuart Student Is Hurt in Crash On Route 601 Sunday Afternoon

A 17-year-old Stuart Country Day School student and her nine-year-old sister remained in critical condition in Robert Wood Johnson University Hospital on Tuesday, more than 48 hours after both were injured in a single-car accident on Belle Mead-Blawenburg Road.

Micaela Shapiro-Shellaby, president of the Student Government at Stuart, suffered multiple lower-body fractures and other injuries. Her sister, Marigny, is being treated at Robert Wood Johnson for a fractured skull.

According to police reports the sisters, who reside in Montgomery, were traveling south on Belle Mead-Blawenburg Road at 1:52 p.m. on Sunday when the accident occurred. Officials reported that both victims were wearing seatbelts at the time of the crash.

It appears that somehow the elder Ms. Shapiro-Shellaby, who is known as Caela, lost control of the 1992 Plymouth she was driving. According to Montgomery Police Chief William Beachell, investigators believe that for some reason the car strayed to the gravel shoulder on

Affordable Housing

In the John/Witherspoon neighborhood for rehabilitation or replacement and designated them as affordable," the statement continues. "But the Shirley Court and Maclean Street sites, acquired at considerable cost for the purpose of adding to the housing stock, continue to lie vacant, mired in disagreement among Council members. Repeated presentations of plans to the Council by the Affordable Housing Board urging action toward construction of new units at these sites seem not to have yielded significant progress."

The statement goes on to say that "ample information is available" for Borough Council to make "informed decisions" on a number of issues, such as the preferred access to each site, how many units and whether they should be for sale or rent, and whether the projects will be built as a single development and if the entire development process should be turned over to the developer. It also suggests that Council might authorize "additional exploration" with Princeton Nursing Home on "mutually advantageous joint development."

Top Priority

In addition to spurring Council to action on the Maclean Street and Shirley Court sites, the Affordable Housing Board is seeking a commitment on new housing units. "We believe that new construction should be the highest priority for the Council as it contemplates the Borough's commitment to Affordable Housing," the statement continues. "New construction adds to the affordable housing stock, whereas rehabilitating units usually does not. It helps to lower the average age of the housing stock, especially in the critical John/Witherspoon neighborhood. It provides an ideal opportunity for home ownership, which stabilizes neighborhoods and adds to the tax base."

The statement points out that affordable and moderate housing is essential in order "to attract and maintain a rooted non-transient population," characterizing this population as including young families, service providers, artists and professionals.

"We do not oppose the rehabilitation of aging properties," the statement continues, "especially when they can be deed-restricted to assure use in the future by those with less. Nor do we oppose the purchase with Borough funds of isolated properties for the purpose of restoring them to liveable condition and subsequent sale. Even so, we believe it now is time to establish new affordable housing as the Council's highest housing priority."

Funds Management

Another issue for the Affordable Housing Board is the management of funds in the Affordable Housing Trust Fund. The statement notes that "Recent discussions about the relationship of the Affordable Housing Trust Fund to the Borough's overall budgeting processes concern" the board "because they seem to have stopped progress on planning development of the Shirley Court and Maclean Street sites, and because they jeopardize the availability of funds to implement these projects."

The statement suggests that Borough Council should establish procedures when budgeting expenditures from the Trust Fund that awards the highest priority to the task of developing these two sites. Any remaining funds available in the fund could then be used to continue rehabilitation projects and to provide the working capital necessary for the acquisition and sale of isolated properties, the statement says.

According to an accompanying memorandum from Mr. Shannon, the Affordable Housing Trust Fund receives about $212,000 in recurring revenues from land leases, payments in lieu of taxes and developers' fees.

Borough Council to Tackle Tough Issue Of How to Tax Tax-Exempt Properties

In work session Tuesday night, October 7, Borough Council was expected to tackle the issue of providing tax relief for Borough property owners by obtaining tax revenue from the tax exempt institutions through legislative means.

Mark Freda, Borough Council president, has put together a proposal that includes three different bills that would have to be adopted by the state Legislature to be effective. In an accompanying memorandum to Council, Mr. Freda notes that 48 percent of Borough property is tax exempt.

"That means that homeowners must each year subsidize tax exempt institutions who have the resources to assume the cost of these services," he writes. "Unless state legislation is enacted there can be no hope for meaningful property tax relief."

TOPICS Of the Town

One of the proposed bills is titled "Fair Share School Tax Act." It would require tax exempt institutions of higher education to pay full tuition for all children the institution generates. Daniel Swirsky, business administrator and board secretary of Princeton Regional Schools estimates that Princeton Theological Seminary and the Institute for Advanced Study each contribute 30 to 50 students in the District's annual enrollment, while 100 to 125 students are generated by Princeton University. Mr. Swirsky also points out that most, but not all, University faculty housing from which these students come is not on the tax rolls.

If enacted, the Fair Share School Tax Act would lower the taxes devoted to the Princeton Regional Schools by approximately $900,000, according to Mr. Freda's memo. This would be a reduction of three tax points for both the Borough and the Township.

Payroll Tax

The second bill that Mr. Freda is proposing is an amendment to payroll tax legislation that now only applies to Newark and Jersey City. Called the "Alternative Property Tax Relief Act," it would allow Princeton Borough and other towns with tax exempt properties that are 35 percent or more of the total assessment to impose a payroll tax. He suggests that unlike Newark and Jersey City, however, the tax would be limited to employers who employ more than 200 employees and it would be imposed on tax exempt institutions. If enacted this measure could cut the municipal tax rate in half and save the average homeowners approximately $1,000 each year, Mr. Freda writes.

The third and most drastic measure, entitled the "Host Municipal Tax Relief Act," would take away the tax exempt status of higher education institutions located in a municipality in which 30 percent of the equalized assessed valuation is tax exempt. This measure, if enacted, would save the average homeowner approximately $2,700 each year, according to Mr. Freda's memo.

Accompanying the memorandum is a financial analysis

Borough Council

prepared by Councilman Roger Martindell, chair of the Council's finance committee. Assuming a $2.06 tax rate and the most recent property assessments, the potential tax levy on Princeton University, which has tax exempt property with a total assessed value in excess of $635 million, would be $13 million in combined local, county and school taxes should the tax exemption be removed. Princeton Theological Seminary's potential levy is $2.1 million, while that of the Medical Center at Princeton (and affiliates, as it is put in the analysis) is $1.7 million.

Westminster Choir College of Rider University would have a liability of a little over $212,000, while "Other" (not including Borough-owned lands and public schools) could be taxed at $585,284. The total that could be expected is in excess of $17.7 million, according to Mr. Martindell's analysis.

Property Tax Relief

If all these properties in the Borough were taxed at the same rate as taxable properties, the Borough taxpayer would pay 47.9% less in real property taxes, Mr. Martindell concludes. If just the institutions of higher education with property in the Borough were taxable at the same rate as taxable properties, the Borough taxpayer would pay 43 percent less in property taxes.

If institutions of higher education with property in the Borough were taxed for school purposes only at the same rate as taxable properties, the Borough taxpayer would pay 20.5% less in property taxes. According to Mr. Martindell's analysis, the average annual residential tax payment in the Borough is $6,930, while the average annual tax payment in all categories is $8,364.

In a footnote to his analysis, Mr. Martindell notes that voluntary contributions by tax exempt institutions are not accounted for in his analysis. They are of three types: nonrecurring gifts; annual payments in lieu of taxes; and voluntary leaving on the tax rolls properties that arguably qualify for tax exempt status.

Princeton Theological Seminary and Princeton University make payments in lieu of taxes of $125,000 and $80,000, respectively, according to his notes. The University also makes payments to the Borough, the county and the schools of approximately $164,800 on properties, such as faculty housing, which could arguably be tax exempt.

Basis for Discussion

In bringing these legislative proposals before Council, Mr. Freda is hoping to start a public discussion among Council, the affected institutions and people in town. Reached by telephone on Tuesday, he said adoption of one or more of the three bills outlined in his memo are not necessarily what he expects to happen, although it may be that Council will decide to take one or another of them to the state Legislature and asked that it be passed.

"We want people to know that we are serious about this problem [the extra burden on taxpayers from tax exempt institutions not contributing more toward municipal services], that we have to do something about it and soon," Mr. Freda said.

Scholar Launches Fall Lecture Series For Historical Society

On Thursday, October 16, William Hosley will launch the Historical Society of Princeton's fall lecture series on the Colonial Revival. Mr. Hosley, Curator of American Decorative Arts at the Wadsworth Atheneum in Hartford, will speak on "Making History, Making Place: America's Search for a Usable Past." He has published extensively in the fields of decorative arts and social history, and has organized numerous museum exhibitions for the Wadsworth Atheneum and other institutions.

The lecture, in Room 104 of the Computer Sciences Building, 35 Olden Street, Princeton University, begins at 8 p.m. and is free. The talk is part of a series of three lectures focusing on the Colonial Revival style in decorative arts and architecture. The programs accompany the Society's current exhibition, "Craftsmanship, Comfort and Elegance: The Architecture of Rolf W. Bauhan."

Bauhan was one of the most prolific Princeton architects of the 20th century. He designed more than 70 buildings in the Princeton area and renovated or designed additions to more than 150 other local buildings. The majority of his work was in the Colonial Revival style. The exhibition is at Bainbridge House, 158 Nassau Street, hours are noon to 4 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

Exhibition Curator Emily Croll will lead a discussion on the Colonial Revival style following each lecture, and refreshments will be served. On October 30, T.J. Jackson Lears, Professor of History, Rutgers University, will present "Two Cheers for Nostalgia: Fantasy, Memory & Fact in the Colonial Revival." William B. Rhoads, Assistant Professor of Art History at SUNY New Paltz, will speak on "The Colonial Revival: America's Own Architectural Style Comes to Princeton" on November 20.

This lecture series is made possible by a grant from the New Jersey Council for the Humanities, a state affiliate of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Parking for the lectures is available in the lot adjacent to the Computer Sciences Building. For information call 921-6748.

Township Resolves To Install More Lights On Harrison Street

Township Committee members agreed on October 6 to take action on a request for enhanced lighting on Harrison Street, between Hartley Avenue and the Borough line. The action, taken after prolonged debate, stemmed from a request first brought to the Committee in March by Princeton University graduate student Josh Handler.

Mr. Handler said at that time that for students living in Butler Tract graduate housing, who walk or bicycle to the University, the darkened street posed a serious safety hazard.

Township engineer Robert Kiser explained on Munday that, following an investigation by traffic safety officer Michael Henderson, residents had been notified of the request for more lighting.

He recommended the installation of lights on every third utility pole, which, he said, would make Harrison Street lighting comparable to that on Washington Road.

Charles Bushnell, Harrison Street, said he was "neither pro nor con" on the question of more lighting, but that if the Township wanted to provide sufficient illumination for students walking to class, it should also install lights alung Prospect Avenue and Western Way.

Otherwise, he pointed out, as soon as students round the corner they will "walk into the dark."

Mr. Bushnell also requested that the Township place the lights so they would shine "on the road, not into people's houses."

PSE&G Shields

Mr. Kiser said the PSE&G Company, which would install the lights, could provide a shield for them or blacken the lens, so light would not bother residents.

"The cost to the Township would be $10 per month per light," he added, for high-pressure sodinm bulbs.

Leonard Godfrey, Lake Drive, said trees and bushes should be pruned, as well, so that once lights were installed, they could be seen; and Mr. Kiser promised additional trimming.

Committeeman Steven Frakt, chairing the meeting in the absence of both Mayor Michele Tuck-Ponder and Deputy Mayor Phyllis Marchand, said he could not possibly vote for more lights without further study of the situation.

Taking Mr. Frakt's comment as an invitation to digress, Harrison Street resident Holly Williams commented that she was "definitely for lights" but she also wanted to complain about the trucks that "barrel down the road at 45 and 50 miles per hour" and shake her house.

Mr. Frakt pointed out that the Township already has an ordinance prohibiting trucks weighing more than four tons from traveling on certain streets, but that Harrison is difficult to control because it is in both the Township and the Borough and also intersects Route 1.

"Harrison is a prime street," he said, "and we are well aware of the speed and the trallic." He attempted to lead the discussion back to the subject of lighting, only to have Mr. Handler add his voice to the complaint about high-speed tralfic.

Street "the" Worst

This street is the worst," Mr. Handler exclaimed. He added that the lights already installed aloug the street were "glaring and too high."

A second student interjected that he had moved to Birch Street because he felt he could no longer bicycle along Harrison Street. "It is a death trap!" he insisted.

"I think we need a separate Harrison Street neighborhood meeting," Mr. Frakt suggested, attempting to soothe residents who had become more agitated as the discussion progressed.

"We should go ahead and try to do something about the lighting right now," said committee member Roz Denard.

"I want to explore the question ol light shields and lower level lights," Mr. Frakt repeated.

"Let the engineer and PSE&G do that," suggested Committeeman Carl Mayer. "That's their job!"

"I want to reserve judgment until I understand the impact," said Mr. Frakt. "I am speaking for the people who aren't here tonight!"

Trying to move his recommendation along, Mr. Kiser suggested that he meet with a representative of the PSE&G Company, as well as a neighborhood representative to get the project started.

Mr. Handler said that if the installation ol lights was delayed any further, he felt nothing would be done for another six months.

"Call the Question"

Tuwnship Attorney Edwin Schmierer politely corrected him, noting that business could be conducted with a quorum — or three Committee members. "A vote of two to one would be sufficient," he said.

Mr. Mayer immediately moved the question; he and Ms. Denard voted to authorize the Township Engineering Department to go forward with the installation of additional lighting on Harrison Street.

Mr. Mayer's motion included the proviso that if the Township runs into problems obtaining shields for the lights, it report back to the Committee.

No date for a meeting of Harrison Street residents was set. —Anne Rivera

Police Arrest Three In Bike Theft Sting On Witherspoon St.

In an effort to crack down on bicycle theft tn the Borough, police set up a simple sting operation on Witherspoon Street Thursday eventng. The operation resulted in the arrest of one bicycle thief and two of his friends who attempted to interfere with officers making the arrest.

According to police, a Trek mountain bike was placed in an area where bike thelts had occurred, and was kept under observation. At 9:51 p.m., officers observed 22-year-old Khaton Merrtll, of 21 Clay Street, pick up the bicycle and begin to walk away with it.

As officers moved in to arrest Mr. Merrill, police said, two other men attempted to interfere, and were charged with disorderly conduct. Mr. Merrill was charged with theft. The other two men, identified as 20-year-old Marshawn Ferguson of 12 Sassafras Row, and 18-year-old Darrell Newlin of 21 Clay Street, were both charged with disorderly conduct. Mr. Newlin was additionally charged with possession of marijuana, after officers discovered a small amount on his person.

All three were released on their own recognizance, pending a court appearance.

A Linden Lane man reported that two women stole property worth $344 lrom his front lawn on Wednesday afternoon.

The victim reported the following items missing: one car seat, one radar detector, seven Nintendo cartridges, one quilted bag, and several children's books.

A Dickinson Street resident reported a break-in to police, telling officers that between 10:30 a.m. and 10:40 p.m. on Wednesday, someone broke a window in his home, entered, and removed a Toshiba laptop computer.

The victim did not know the value of the computer.

A Borough patrol officer on patrol on University Place at 12:20 a.m. Monday, saw a man walk up University Place, enter Princeton University's campus, and exit a short time later riding a bicycle.

The officer stopped the man, who was identified as Carlin Burford, 35, of 102 Leigh Avenue, and ran a check on the bicycle. The bicycle had been reported stolen on September 13, and Mr. Burford was placed under arrest. In his pocket, police discovered a pair of wire cutters.

Mr. Burford was charged with receiving stolen property, possession of burglary tools, and trespassing on University property. He was released on his own recognizance, pending a court appearance on October 20.

A 52-year-old Library Place resident reported that at some point between 6 p.m. on September 29 and 3 p.m. on October 3, her Visa card and driver's license were stolen from her purse. The purse had been in various locations during that time.

The victim notified her credit card company, and was told that approximately $6,000 in charges had been made against the card in Pennsylvania.

A 40-year-old Township woman reported that her $2,000 diamond engagement ring was stolen from an unlocked locker in the YMCA women's locker room between 5:30 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. on September 29.

There are no suspects.

A brown leather Coach brand pocketbook and a matching wallet, valued at approximately $450, were stolen from the front seat of an unlocked vehicle parked on Horner Road at approximately 9:30 a.m. on September 29.

Inside the pocketbook was $30 in cash and other belongings.

The victim was identified as a 34-year-old Montgomery woman.

Drug Arrest

Working on a tip supplied by an anonymous individual, police arrested two men who were allegedly seen smoking marijuana in the parking lot at the intersection of Witherspoon and Green streets.

Arrested were Thomas Mauro, 18, of Robbinsville, and a 16-year-old Montgomery boy.

Police found three small bags containing marijuana in a knapsack carried by Mr. Mauro. He was charged with possession of marijuana and released pending a court appearance. The juvenile was released to his family.

Police charged a Harris Road man with driving while intoxicated Saturday, after an officer spotted his 1986 Chevrolet being operated erratically on Nassau Street.

John Armonia, 54, was subjected to a breathalyzer test and was found to be intoxicated. He was charged with driving under the influence, and was later released with a court appearance scheduled for October 20.

Responding to reports of a car accident on Herrontown Road at 5:39 p.m. on Saturday, police arrested a 40-year-old Overbrook Drive man for driving while intoxicated.

Police reported that the 1990 BMW driven by Brian Hoffman was westbound on Herrontown Road when the vehicle left the roadway and struck a boulder. The car flipped over, coming to rest on its roof.

Mr. Hoffman, and his passenger, Glen Gautier, 40, of Hackettstown, were transported to the Medical Center with slight injuries. Mr. Hoffman was charged with driving while intoxicated and careless driving.

A person working in a Borough office looked through a window at 4:35 p.m. Monday, and saw a boy tampering with an automobile in the parking lot outside.

The witness called police and then went outside and detained the boy until officers arrived. According to police, the 13-year-old culprit, a Borough resident, had removed all of the valve stem caps from the tires on a BMW. No other damage was done.

The youth was charged with juvenile delinquency and released to his father.

Numerous bicycles were reported stolen in the Borough this week.

A Trek valued at $400 was stolen from Brown Hall between September 19 and September 21. It had been locked.

A Schwinn valued at $220 was stolen from Forbes College between 9:30 p.m. September 22 and 9 a.m. the next morning. It had been left unlocked.

A Ross valued at $150 was stolen from Osborn Hall between September 21 and September 22. It had been locked.

A $400 Schwinn left locked on Princeton Avenue was stolen between 8 a.m. on September 20 and 7 p.m. the next day.

A Sycamore valued at $750 was stolen from Forbes College, where it was left unlocked from 8:30 a.m. September 26 to 4 a.m. the next morning.

A Diamondback of unknown value was stolen from Joline Hall between September 29 and September 30. It had been locked.

A $320 Schwinn was stolen from outside Princeton High School, where it was left, locked, between 8 a.m. and 1:45 p.m. on October 1.

will gather at the newly renovated Tap Room at the Nassau Inn for the annual Arts Council benefit to support art programs and youth scholarships in 1997-98. Arnold Rampersad, Arts Council Board member and Woodrow Wilson Professor of Literature, and the former director of the programs in African American Studies and American Studies at Princeton University, will read selections from his just-released book, Jockie Robinson: A Biography.

The Benefit Committee has many surprises in store, from a buffet stadium supper to Dodger memorabilia depicting Robinson in his heyday. Rachel Robinson and Bill White, veteran Yankees' broadcaster, will greet guests who will be entertained by informal screenings of archival Dodger footage. Guests will have the opportunity to purchase signed copies of Mr. Rampersad's book. At the conclusion of the party, guests may retire to the Tap Room to cheer on their World Series team in the second game.

A limited number of tickets are available from the Arts Council. Call 924-8777.

Halloween Makeup Offered At the Public Library

The Youth Department of the Princeton Public Library, in conjunction with Youth Stages, will present a Halloween makeup program on Tuesday, October 28, at 7 p.m. Children, ages 11 to 14, will learn to create the effect they want for the perfect Halloween face.

Jenny Foster from Youth Stages, the nonprofit group of artist/educators, that presented a program at the library early in the summer, returns by popular demand. If children tell her what they want to be; she can make it happen. Register now.

Preference for children's programs will be given to families with Princeton Public Library cards.

Special assistance for children, parents and other caregivers with disabilities who want to participate in library-sponsored programs, may be arranged upon request.

For information, visit the Children's Room, or call 924-9529.

Halloween Parade-Contest At the Shopping Center

The Princeton Shopping Center will host its eighth annual "Spook-tacular Halloween Parade-Contest" on Saturday, October 25, at 11 a.m., in the courtyard.

Children are invited to show off their Halloween costumes while marching to ghostly music.

Judges will award, first, second, third, and consolation prizes to winners in four different age categories: parents and strollers; new walkers to 3 years; 4 to 6 years; 7 years and older. Every child will receive a prize as well as a free Halloween trick-or-treat bag.

After the parade, children may enjoy cake from the Chesapeake Bagel Bakery and enjoy a concert performed by "Peanut Butter-n-Jamm'n." They will also be able to go trick-or-treating at stores until 2, or as long as supplies last.

In case of rain, festivities will take place under the covered walkway between Country Kids and Center Shoe and Repair.

The Shopping Center's newest store, Princeton Jewelers, will host "A Great Jeweled Pumpkin Contest," in which children decorate a pumpkin with whatever they like, but without carving.

Customers will judge all pumpkins brought to the Shopping Center by noon.

Rec Department to Hold Basketball Try-outs

The Princeton Recreation Department will hold try-outs this month for teams to take part in the Central Jersey Youth Basketball League.

The fourth year, all-star travelling basketball program is comprised of area community-based teams, made up of skilled players interested in a higher level of play than typical recreation programs offer.

All try-outs for Recreation Department teams will be held at Princeton High School. Try-outs for the Under-12 Boys Division (11 or younger, as of August 31) will take place from 7 to 8 p.m.; try-outs for the Under-14 Boys Division (13 or younger, as of August 31) will SUPERFRESH: A lone customer enters the SuperFresh market in the Princeton Shopping Center. The store will be closed for business after Saturday, October 11.

SuperFresh

it was the beginning of the end. This shopping center just can't support two grocery stores."

"They aren't renewing their lease," confirmed Dana Comfort, of George Comfort & Sons, Inc., one of the Shopping Center owners.

"The store is less than 26,000 square feet, and it cannot expand," he pointed out. "We have known for a few months that SuperFresh would be leaving."

Eight years ago, when the Acme supermarket moved out of the shopping center, SuperFresh — then A&P — proposed tearing down the Acme building in order to expand its store. "Residents were very opposed to the plan," Mr. Comfort remembered.

"Anchor-Type Tenant"

We are looking for another anchor-type tenant for the space," he said, "but it won't be a food retailer."

Mr. Rourke would not promise that employees will be given jobs in other SuperFresh stores. Mr. Wright, the Local 1360 steward, said, however, that by union contract, employees with seniority are permitted to "bump" others with less seniority from their jobs in other stores.

"The union will try and place everyone who has at least four years' seniority," he said. "Eighty-five percent or more of the employees here have that kind of service."

Employees who do not find jobs with the company will be paid for accrued vacation, he said. Some UFCW members may receive a small, union-negotiated severance payment, depending on time worked.

The union and company are preparing lists of employees with seniority, Mr. Wright added. "Of course, if you're a young kid who's just started; or you don't have a driver's license, you are out of luck."

Not only SuperFresh employees, but also a number of customers will be out of luck, Mr. Wright said. "I feel sorry for some of the elderly people who kind of rely on this place," he explained.

McCaffrey's, an upscale grocery that includes an extensive prepared foods department, a catering service, a bakery, and a fish market is not for everyone, the shop steward noted. SuperFresh prices are more reasonable, he added.

There are several SuperFresh markets in the area, including one on Route 571 in Hightstown. Throughout the state, A&P owns more than 80 stores.

"Check-Out Hunger" Helps State's Families

Nearly 25 million Americans, mostly the working poor, the elderly, and victims of natural disasters, rely on food banks for emergency assistance every year. The Community FoodBank of New Jersey, the state's largest distributor of donated food to non-profit groups where hungry people turn for help, has joined forces with hundreds of supermarkets in the fight against domestic hunger. The Check-Out Hunger campaign raises funds to help people in need as well as awareness of the work being done by the Community FoodBank and its associated food banks statewide.

UNDAUNTED: Five-year-old Christopher Grant did not let braces slow him down as he took part in the 1-K Walk, a part of Race for the Cure, on Sunday.

In New Jersey alone, according to a study by the Food Research and Action Center, 617,000 people live below the poverty level and struggle regularly with the problem of missed meals and inadequate nutrition. New Jersey's high rental costs add to the problem since low-income families typically place food purchases lower in the budgeting process so they can maintain a roof over their heads and have heat in the winter.

During October and November, in more than 500 supermarkets across the state, shoppers will find $1, $2 and $5 donation slips attached to Check-Out Hunger placards bearing the familiar face of Popeye, the cartoon character long-identified with the importance of good nutrition for a healthy body. Because of the serious and persistent problem of domestic hunger, King Features Syndicate, a division of the Hearst Corporation, is donating the use of Popeye as a spokescharacter for the campaign. Popeye and Olive Oyl will also be making the right-hand side of the road, approximately 1,000 feet south of the intersection with Dutchtown-Zion Road.

When Ms. Shapiro-Shellaby veered to the left in an effort to get back on the roadway, the car crossed the center line and entered the northbound lane. A second car was approaching in that lane, and Ms. Shapiro-Shellaby apparently swerved back to the right again, sending the car into a 180-degree spin.

The car skidded back across the shoulder on the southbound side of the road, and struck a tree. "The point of impact was right in front of the driver's side door, trapping Micaela in the car," said Chief Beachell.

Personnel from Montgomery Emergency Medical Services, the Blawenburg Fire Company, and the Belle Mead Fire Company arrived on the scene, and began to assist the injured sisters.

Chief Beachell reported that while the EMS personnel tended to the girls' injuries, members of one of the fire companies struggled to extricate them from the car. The second fire company rushed to Lubas Field, near the Carrier Clinic, to prepare a landing zone for a State Police Medivac helicopter.

Marigny was extracted from the wreckage first, and was immediately loaded into the helicopter and taken to Robert Wood Johnson University Hospital's trauma unit.

The original plan had been to transport both sisters to the hospital at the same time, but because it was far more difficult to remove the elder sister from the vehicle, officials decided to send Marigny to the hospital without delay.

Second Helicopter

Rescue workers needed almost a full hour to extricate Micaela, and once that was accomplished, she was loaded into a second helicopter and flown to the trauma unit as well.

In addition to being president of the Student Government at Stuart, said Barbara Robbins, the school's public relations director, Micaela is a two-sport athlete, participating in basketball and lacrosse at the varsity level. She has also been involved in projects to build homes for low-income families in Appalachia, and has served as a Peer Leader at Stuart. The victims' mother, Madelaine Shellaby, is head of the Art Department at Stuart.

Administrators at Stuart, some of whom have spent considerable time at the hospital with the Shapiro-Shellaby family, were not available for comment on Tuesday.

—Rob Garver

WOMEN'S WINNER: Connie Buckwalter, Lancaster, Pa., won the 5-K Women's Race, part of Race for the Cure activities on October 5, at the Educational Testing Service campus in Lawrenceville. Proceeds from the race — more than $500,000 — will be used to support cancer research.

Semitic Studies Director Delivers Moscow Keynote

Dr. Ephraim Isaac, Grover Avenue, gave one of the keynote lectures on human rights and the Bible, at a conference in Moscow convened in honor of Father Alexander Men, a religious martyr. Dr. Isaac is director of the Princeton Institute of Semitic Studies.

The conference was organized by the General Library of the Russian Ministry of Culture in Moscow and took place from September 9 to 11.

Dr. Ephraim Isaac

The Princeton resident was an invited guest of the Russian Lawyers Association and also participated in a one-day discussion on religious freedom in Russia today.

A fellow of Butler College, Princeton University, Mr. Isaac holds a B.D. degree from Harvard Divinity School and a doctorate in Semitic Languages and Civilizations from Harvard University. He lectures widely in colleges and other public institutions in the country on the subject of the decline of values and corruption in academia.

He delivered keynote lectures on this subject in Santa Fe, N.M. (1995) and in San Antonio, Tex. (1996) at the eighth and ninth Conference on Race and Ethnicity in American Higher Education.

Mr. Isaac is a member of the Princeton Theological Seminary team working on the Dead Sea Scrolls. In July, he was an invited participant at an international congress on "The Dead Sea Scrolls –50 Years After Their Discovery" in Jerusalem.

At the Congress, he discussed the problem of deciphering the Dead Sea Scrolls' fragment of the Book of Enoch, believed to be the most important Jewish literary work of the Second Temple period, outside of the Old Testament.

Dr. Isaac taught at Harvard from 1968 to 1977, where he lectured on African languages and religions. He has taught in the U.S. and Israel, including stints at Princeton University, the University of Pennsylvania, Hebrew University, Lehigh University, and Bard College.

He has been a member of the Center for Theological Inquiry, a visiting member of Princeton's Institute for Advanced Studies, and a Fellow of the National Endowment for the Humanities. He has published extensively on the subjects of Semitic and African languages and literatures and on the study of ancient religions.

A native of Ethiopia, Dr. Isaac knows 17 languages. In 1960, he made the first translation of Handel's Messiah into Amharic, the official language of Ethiopia.

Founder/director of the Ethiopian national literacy campaign, he currently chairs an international Peace and Development Committee for Ethiopia and the Horn of Africa.

He was both an official observer and a speaker at the 1991 conference on peaceful and democratic transition in Ethiopia, which resulted in the formation of the present government.

A member of an observer team at the Eritrean Referendum for self-determination in 1993, was part of the consultation conference on writing a new constitution for Ethiopia in 1994.

INVEST IN ORGANIC FUTURES

The principle behind organic farming is simple - work with nature to increase the natural fertility of the soil and you create a healthy environment for your crops, your workers, and your community. And, because you don't rely on petrochemical pesticides, your customers have less worry about pesticide residues on their food. The Whole Earth Center believes that organic farming makes a lot of sense both in the short- and the long-term. That's why all of the fresh produce we sell is certified organic and why we carry a wide range of packaged and bulk items that are also organically-grown. These include baby food, cereals, juices, coffees, teas, dairy products, soups, crackers, pasta, snack foods, tofu, flours, rice, grains, and more. We also have books about organic gardening, natural lawn care, and natural foods cooking. Come in and learn more about the benefits of organic farming. It's an idea with a big future.

appearances at selected supermarkets all over New Jersey.

"Giving to Check-Out Hunger is as easy as buying a quart of milk," explained Julia Erlichman, Director of Development at the FoodBank. "Shoppers simply tear off a donation slip which is scanned by the cashier, and the amount is added to the total order. People can rest assured that 100 % of their donation actually goes to the Community FoodBank or one of our associated food banks here in New Jersey. For each dollar donated, the FoodBank distributes $10 to $12 worth of food and grocery items to people in need."

Medical Center Reports 12 Area Births

Watershed Announces Fall Country Bike Tour

Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association, located on Titus Mill Road, Hopewell Township, announces an autumn country bike tour on Saturday, October 18, at 8 a.m. for adults and families.

This popular bike tour travels through rural country roads in Hopewell Township. The group will travel from the Watershed Preserve to the Delaware River passing several historic buildings, including the old Woosamonsa and Harbourton schools and the Hopewell Township Poor Farm. The group will travel past Howell Living History Farm and Gravity Hill, and along the Delaware and Raritan Canal on the tow path. Participants will tour at a comfortable pace and encounter some rolling hills.

Participants will need safety helmets and bikes with at least 5 to 10 speeds. Refreshments will be provided. Meet at the Buttinger Center near the Main Office Building. Preregister since enrollment is limited. Fee $4 members and $7 nonmembers. To register, call the Education Office at 737-7592.

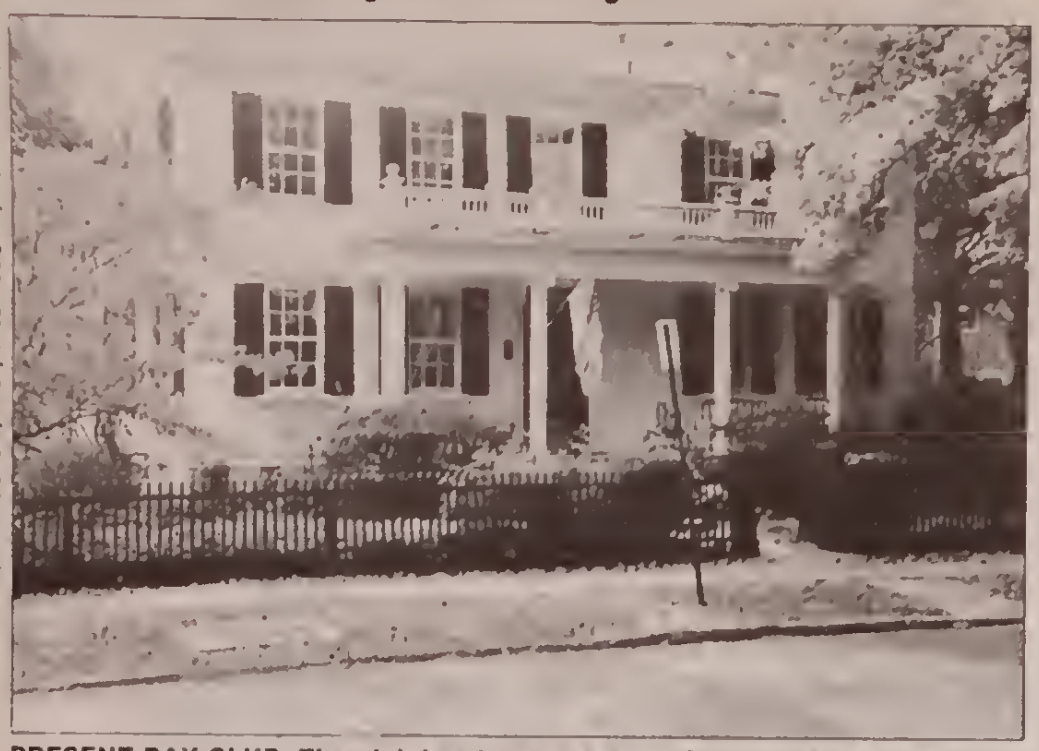
Present Day Club Begins Year-Long Centennial Celebration



PRESENT DAY CLUB: The club headquarters at 72 Stockton Street, acquired in 1930, was designed by well-known architect Charles Steadman.

The founding goals of the Present Day Club, as stated in its constitution, were "to create an organized center of thought and action among the women of Princeton, and to stimulate an interest in science, literature, art, and social and ethical culture."

For almost 100 years, at several different locations in town, through two World Wars, good times and bad, members of the club have stuck to their objectives.

On September 10, they inaugurated a year-long centennial celebration, with an afternoon tea at their headquarters in the Charles Steadman house at 72 Stockton Street.

The actual founding date was January 22, 1898, when, according to the club's early historian Eleanor Bowman, "twenty-nine ladies gathered together at the house of Miss Ada Louise Norris, 79 Alexander Street, for the purpose of forming a club."

The idea originated, apparently, with one Elizabeth Denny Paxton, who returned from a visit to Pittsburgh where she had been a guest at an organization "formed for literary and social purposes." She thought a similar idea should be tried in Princeton.

According to the history, "Mrs. [William] Libbey delightfully said she was interested in the idea, but felt it radical!"

Radical or not, the idea took hold. The Constitution and by-laws were adopted in March; and by April 4, 1898, when the list of charter members was closed, 49 "women of Princeton" had joined the club.

Annual dues were $5, with an initiation fee of $2. The dues remained the same for the next 20 years.

The group met at first in two rent-free, unfurnished rooms donated by the University, in University Hall [since demolished] on Nassau Street. After contributing furnishings, members decided to appropriate half their income for expenses, with the other half going for lectures.

The first public step of the club, according to the history, was to petition the Common Council of the Borough to "prohibit the posting of bills and notices upon the trees, and to restrict same to store windows and bill boards."

Village Improvement Committee

In May, a Village Improvement Committee, focusing on all sorts of civic projects, was appointed. It soon expanded into the Community League, welcoming participation by individuals who were not part of the Present Day Club.

Throughout the early years, a focus on civic betterment persisted. In 1908, for example, one of the discussion topics was better train service for the Borough. A concern in 1909 was child labor. The club, in 1913, allied itself with efforts to establish a county tuberculosis hospital, as well as a local curfew.

After the outbreak of World War I, the club raised money for the War Relief Fund; and held a program on food conservation. It contributed funds to the Princeton Unit of the Women's Land Army of America.

Lectures were, however, always a primary focus. One of the club's first presentations in 1898 had been a debate: "Shall We Annex the Hawaiian Islands?" The result was a tie.

After moving several times, the club in 1911 arranged with Thomson Hall to use the auditorium, library, reading room, dressing room, and kitchen one afternoon a week for $10. Wednesday was the day selected for meetings; it is still the meeting day.

In 1919, the club acquired Rose Cottage, adjacent to Thomson Hall on Stockton Street for its headquarters. It agreed to a payment of $1,000 and pledged to contribute each year to Princeton Hospital, as well as to rent Thomson Hall at least 15 times annually, at the rate of $10 per rental. Fortnightly luncheons on Wednesday were initiated.

Today, members can count on weekly luncheons with speakers — still on Wednesday. A fulltime manager-chef, Christine Larkin, runs the kitchen, as well as the house on Stockton Street, which was purchased in 1930.

Twice yearly, the club holds a fashion show; there are six theater parties annually and two evening dinners, to which men are invited. Members present musicales periodically in the ballroom, which also serves as a gallery where area artists regularly exhibit.

CENTENNIAL TEA: Members Donna Reichard, left, and Gail Firestone celebrating the first event of the Present Day Club's centennial year on September 10.

Maintenance to the Hilt

The club is run by a number of committees, according to President Margaret Cruikshank. The Art Committee, for example, is in charge of arranging exhibitions; the Bulletin Committee issues a monthly newsletter; a Book Committee arranges book discussions; and a House Committee helps the manager maintain club headquarters "to the hilt."

The club's early involvement in civic activities has given way to a more social focus, according to Ms. Cruikshank.

"It is a relief to take part in an organization that is purely social," she explained. "Most of the members are involved in a number of charitable causes; this club is where we relax."

Past President Jeanne D. Silvester, author of the club's history from 1948 to the present, pointed out that after World War II, the club's emphasis changed partly because its members changed.

"In the early days, this club was a major part of its members' lives," she noted. "Today, most of our younger members work; their lives are very full and the club is just one of their activities."

"It's a normal private club," commented Mrs. Cruikshank. Dues are nominal, after a one-time entry fee is paid, she said, but she declined to name the amount. Membership fluctuates, but there have never been more than 450 members. There is no longer a membership waiting list, as there was 25 years ago.

"For me the club is a wonderful learning experience," Ms. Silvester declared. "I learn something every Wednesday."

Speakers at the club during its 100 years of existence have reflected the "trends of the times" better than the founders could ever have predicted.

Club annals read like a Who's Who in America. Mrs. Woodrow Wilson was a member; Albert Einstein in 1941 gave a benefit violin concert for war relief. The visitors' roster includes names like Jane Addams; early journalist Ida Tarbell; Lyman Beecher Stowe; Lord Bertrand Russell; Joan Crawford; well-known names in art, theater, science and politics.

Historian Eleanor Bowman wrote in 1948, "To the gallant ladies of 1898, who gave us our distinguished heritage, we offer our deep and lasting gratitude."

Each month from now through next June, today's members will celebrate their heritage with a special program, culminating in a Centennial Garden Party. An oral history of the club will be presented, as well as an "Authors Roundtable" and a club musicale.

The club is also issuing a special cookbook for the occasion. Entitled, A Century of Culinary Sharing, it is a place where present-day recipes will share space with "the recipes of our grandmothers," say club officials.

Zoning Changes for Our Lady of Princeton Will Be Castastrophic for Neighborhood

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The neighbors who live in proximity to the property of Our Lady of Princeton have much to be concerned about. The application for a use variance by ALK Associates, converting the site from residential to commercial use and its amendments, will have permanent and drastic consequences for those residents living adjacent to the site. Though the Kornhausers have recently filed "concessions" to their original application, any change of this property's zoning from residential to commercial will be catastrophic for the residents of the "Ridge." The effects may eventually jeopardize every section of our town with large parcels of undeveloped residential property. The application is an appalling disregard for the character and privacy of this neighborhood.

Throughout all of the proceedings before the zoning board, experts have testified to the ramifications of a zoning change. The experts have described, in professional terminology, the effect the zoning will have on this sector of Princeton. None of the experts have ventured to use real numbers to explain the impact in concrete terms. The real numbers are compelling and frightening.

The application requests conversion of the current buildings' use to 55,000 square feet of office space, catering/conference facility, and up to 50 hotel rooms. The chapel is to remain as is, and may be rented for public use. There are to be up to 288 new parking spaces, with the access road changed from Drakes Corner to Ridgeview Road. With this volume of office space, catering, chapel, hotel and parking facilities, there will be a terrible alteration in the ambiance of the quiet, wooded neighborhoods surrounding the property. The parking facilities alone provide for 288 cars to go and come to work during the business day, including lunch traffic. The 288 parking spaces also allow for 350 people to gather in the chapel on the weekends. And the 288 parking spaces will be available to as many as 200 guests attending a catered event on the property.

This means that when the parking lot is filled to capacity, cars to and from the facility, turning right, left or using Ridgeview Road, will catastrophically alter the traffic on these three quiet streets. If one were to divide the 288 spaces by the three directions a motorist may turn from the "new" access driveway into the site, there would be 192 cars turning right or left onto the Great Road and 96 using Ridgeview Road.

These cars, of course make round trips. That means, in round trips, 384 cars will use the Great Road, and 192 will travel on Ridgeview Road. This volume of traffic may use these roads 7 days a week, 24 hours a day. In addition there will be trucks going and coming from the facility, servicing the activities at the site. More graphically there could be constant car and truck traffic, 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. This quantity of traffic and use will cause a sharp decline in the quality of life of all the residents living on these roads.

The potential for the facility to be in active use 365 days a year, 24 hours a day is clear. ALK Associates will want to maximize the use of this property and the revenue it can generate. Though the Kornhausers have asserted that they wish to provide a resource for the community, by preserving the property and mansion, they will instead create massive disruption and intrusion of the neighborhood. An approval of this use variance will place other neighborhoods in peril as this variance will constitute precedence.

It is incumbent upon the zoning board to reject this application. The application will have disastrous effects on the sensitive Ridge area, and residents. The "ends" of the "preservation" of one tentatively noteworthy building on the property, do not justify the disruption of the peace and tranquillity to more than 60 homes, and the lives of hundreds of children and adults. The good of the neighborhood should supersede the interests of a commercial enterprise. Residents of Princeton are fortunate, and should continue to be so, enjoying the tranquility of their chosen neighborhoods.

Township Residents Urged to Vote "No" On Open Space Tax Question in November

To the Editor of Town Topics:

On November 4, Princeton Township voters will have a referendum on the proposed open-space tax. If this tax is approved by the voters, the Princeton Township treasury will get $200,000 to $300,000 every year which may only be used for open-space projects.

These funds will be set aside for "open space" every year before any money is appropriated for police protection, road construction and maintenance, health programs, library upkeep, or any other service provided by the municipality. All municipal services other than "open space" will have to compete for a share of the local tax dollar.

Princeton Township residents who believe that open space activities are important, but ought not to have priority over every other municipal function, should vote "No" on the Open Space Tax question on the ballot on Election Day.

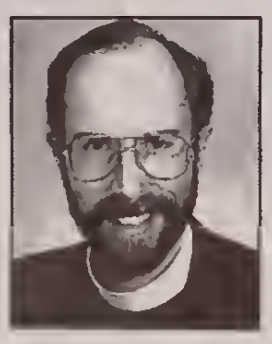
Family Advice Column:

ADULTERY

By the Rev. Peter K. Stimpson



The Rev. Peter K. Stimpson

QUESTION: My husband is having an affair with a younger woman. While I am crying myself to sleep at night, he seems to be having a ball. Why is life so unfair?

ANSWER: Adultery is widespread in our culture. So too is the myth that goes with it, namely, that you can have your cake and eat it too, that two women are better than one, or that your husband is having a ball.

To understand my point, you must understand marriage. Marriage is defined by your marital vow, your promise to be true to each other, to continually help each other grow, no matter what comes your way. Your vow is like a protective bubble, preventing outside interference, while allowing you to experience inside intensity. You become so intimate with each other that you lovingly help each other grow, gently pointing out weaknesses in one another with which you are willing to help your spouse.

Your husband, however, has lost the healing of that power. Perhaps he doubts his self-worth, and is flattered by the attention of this "younger" woman. Perhaps he is a workaholic who refuses to listen to your advice to work less and relax more, and is comforted in the arms of "a more understanding woman". Whatever is the cause, my point is that he may well be running away from himself. While he may seem to be having the time of his life, by not facing his problem, he is condemned to continue living it.

By "fooling around", he loses the intensity of his relationship with you. He can not relate to 2 women without watering down the power of his relationship. This point is so clear to me that I never allow marriage counseling to begin until the person having the affair ends it. This is not because I am mean, but because the counseling will not otherwise work. If your husband can duck his growth by running to someone who will tell him what he wants to hear, his relationship with you will be stripped of its power. The counseling process will be doomed before it starts.

However, you must now look deep into your own soul. Adultery is not only a problem, but is also a symptom of a problem in your marriage. Perhaps you have not "lovingly" pointed out those areas where he needs to grow, and may not have been honest enough to listen to him when he tried to help you. If that is the case, you need to face your own need for growth, and then urge your husband to return to a process where growth will be on both your parts.

He may not at first be willing. Have him reflect on this thought. He can easily divorce you, and even marry the "other woman". That may take a year or so. Then, it will take another year or so before the rose-colored glasses come off and true growth begins. At that point, he will realize that relationship #2 is not much different than relationship #1. While he will then wonder what might have happened if he had tried with you, it will be too late. However, it is not too late now. A 3-month period of marriage counseling will tell him either that your relationship will not work, or that happiness has been under his nose all along. Either way, he has nothing to lose.

It Helps No One for Charitable Organizations To Criticize Each Other in Era of Limited Funds

To the Editor of Town Topics:

We write on behalf of the United Way of Greater Mercer County in response to a recent TOWN TOPICS article [September 24] concerning cuts in United Way funding for programs run by the Princeton YWCA. We and the YWCA surely agree on two fundamental points. First, there are numerous valuable programs run by local charities through Mercer County. Second, there is simply not enough private and governmental money to fully fund these essential programs.

We at the United Way have recognized this sad fact for many years, and with severe governmental cutbacks of our social safety net, this problem has become worse, not better. Because of this and the merger of the two separate United Ways, the United Way of Greater Mercer County embarked on a program two years ago to redefine our mission.

One year ago, we began to implement this plan and again communicated information both verbally and in writing to more than 250 agencies. This year we invited charitable organizations to prepare Request for Proposals (RFPs) detailing their need for United Way support. Our community volunteers spent well over 6,000 hours interviewing the applicants, conducting site visits, and discussing the merits of each proposal. These volunteers then whittled the requests from $6 million to $3.3 million that they felt represented important, worthwhile programs. Sadly, at this time, we only had $2.2 million to distribute. We had to make excruciatingly painful choices.

But, our mission was clear — we chose those programs to help those most in need to help themselves. Our volunteers conducted the most comprehensive review of programs in our history so that you can be certain your donation to the United Way will be well spent and will help those most in need to help themselves. Were our decisions perfect? Of course not. Could someone else reach a different conclusion on some of the RFPs. Of course they could. But we implemented our mission to direct limited resources to those most in need.

We are funding more than 100 programs at more than 50 different agencies that will help nearly 100,000 people. The United Way funds programs at agencies that are located in every community in greater Mercer County: Cranbury, East Windsor, Ewing, Hamilton, Hightstown, the Hopewells, Kingston, Lawrence, Monmouth Junction, Montgomery, Pennington, Plainsboro, the Princetons, Rocky Hill, South Brunswick, Trenton, Washington and West Windsor.

Of course, we fund many agencies here in Princeton — Princeton Senior Resource Center, Princeton YWCA, Princeton Nursery School, Family Guidance Center, Family Service of Central Jersey and agencies new to our funding — The Environmentor Project and Trinity Counseling. We provide day care funding for kids whose working mothers can't afford day care and can't work without it. Our labor friends — plumbers, electricians and carpenters — volunteered their time and talent to rebuild a shelter for young pregnant girls that otherwise would have closed. Thanks to funding from United Way, hot meals are delivered to homebound senior citizens who otherwise would have to do without. And, the list could go on and on.

We feel it helps no one for charitable organizations — which are all providing important services to the community — to unfairly criticize each other. It drains public support from us all! The YWCA of Princeton provides important programs for the community as do many other local nonprofit agencies. The answer is that we all need more donations from you, the public, to carry out these crucial programs. The United Way believes that if the recipients can afford to pay for a service, we should not provide funds but rather should direct our limited resources elsewhere. That is why we ask — as part of the RFP process — for demographic information on the income levels of the program recipients.

The committee that reviewed the Princeton YWCA Breast Cancer Resource Program was chaired by a woman, was comprised of a majority of women, and staffed by a breast cancer survivor. The committee's decisions were also based on availability of similar services elsewhere. That does not make the Breast Cancer Resource Program less important or less beneficial to the community. But we simply did not have enough money to go around, and it was difficult for us to say no to other programs that we knew provided help to those most in need to help themselves.

We in the charitable community must work together to help the vast number of people who benefit from our programs. We will continue to fund Princeton charities — including the YWCA of Princeton — to help those most in need in Princeton and Greater Mercer County to help themselves. You — the public — can rely on that.

Charter School Is a Work-in-Progress And Nothing Should Be Set in Stone

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I am getting really tired of reading Ms. Toby Peterson's hysterical diatribes against the Charter School. Two things particularly annoy me.

First, her constant use of the word "cabal" meaning a cliquish group banning together for, in her point of view, some nefarious activity. I do not belong to any cabal — my son was chosen for the Charter School by lottery, as was every other child there. He was 16th on the waiting list for the sixth grade and I was thrilled when in mid-July he was finally offered a place.

If we are a group in any sense yet, after just 2½ weeks of school, we are a group of parents that cares deeply about the education of our children and are willing to take part in an experiment to see if it can be made better. In the long run, I think we all hope that improvements pioneered by the Princeton Charter School will help all Princeton students.

Second, I think Ms. Peterson is unrealistic in her demands for free after-school care and tutoring (which no school, public or private, can offer) when the Charter School has very few of the basics such as library books or sports equipment. What money the Charter School has must be spent wisely. And who's to say that an hour of tutoring will mean more or less to a child, disadvantaged or not, than a wonderful book to read? No one can make that judgment.

When I say we are all participating in an experiment, I would like to emphasize that from my point of view, the Princeton Charter School, its activities, curriculum, and goals, are works-in-progress. Nothing needs to be — or should be — set in stone. Let's give it time to work, support it as best we can, and remember that like the other Princeton public schools, it belongs to all of us just as much as Littlebrook School (my alma mater) or the High School.

It's Time to Provide the Local Machine With Some Opposition: a Few Republicans

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Once, many years ago, I voted for a Republican. He was running for local office against the Daley machine in Chicago, a quixotic effort if there ever was one, and needed all the help he could get. To make matters worse, he also insisted on taking the high road, something no politician in Chicago had ever tried before [or since]. During a public debate, the machine's candidate seemed genuinely perplexed: "I can understand my opponent's disapproval of corruption and cronyism; but then why on earth does he want to be elected alderman??" It was clear there was no hope when my Don Quixote couldn't come up with a decent answer [in all fairness, there probably wasn't one], and since then I've never been surprised to read that a Richard Daley is still the mayor of Chicago.

Princeton Borough's politics are, mercifully, still in a different league, but distinct signs of atrophy are beginning to show nonetheless. Our local machine's actions and pronouncements of late seem to be tinged with reprisal, a consequence, perhaps, of its failure in the last election to persuade us to consolidate. First, one of our more able councilmen was unceremoniously cashiered for voicing his occasional opposition, notably to consolidation.

And now, any and all problems affecting the town seem to have suddenly become insurmountable, beyond the ability of Borough Council to manage. If only consolidation had passed we'd still be able to refuel our police cars! Now we'll have to install our own oil pipeline directly to Iraq! Sorry, it'll have to run right down the middle of Hodge Road — You don't want us to be without police cars, do you??

Clearly, our local machine is peeved at us. The cure, however, is not to cater to its whims, but to instead provide it with some opposition — a few Republicans who might perhaps offer different opinions about, say, refueling police cars. I am sure that Kate Warren and Tommy Parker's new ideas and efforts toward improving life in Princeton will benefit us all. For a second time, I will vote Republican.

Decision to Expand Borough Police Department Must Be Open to Public Discussion and Debate

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Much is being said these days about the way Princeton used to be; about a lost sense of community; and about non-partisan local government. These are fine sentiments; but they offer no guidance when we are faced with specific policy choices. Only public participation and public debate will enable our elected officials to make wise decisions which represent the views of the citizens; and wise decisions about the future are far more important than any nostalgic remembrance of the past.

For example, we now must decide whether to expand our Police Department. Chief Tom Michaud has asked the Borough Council to add to the police force two new officers, at an annual cost of about $120,000.

If this $120,000 is to be paid by the taxpayers, it will result in a property tax increase of $12 per year for each $100,000 of assessed value; the owner of a $300,000 house (near the median value in the Borough) will pay an additional $36 per year in taxes. Asking the owner of a $300,000 house to pay another $36 per year in taxes is roughly equal to asking for a one-time only payment of about $900 from the homeowner: A 4 percent return will yield $36 per year, which, in turn will pay for the budget increase forever. To put it another way, if every property owner in the Borough paid $900 now, each year's interest from the money would pay for the two officers for that year. (It is interesting to ask whether all, some, or none of this theoretical $900 would be recovered by the homeowner when he or she sold the property.)

Is the added police protection worth the tax increase? This is a hard question, but not a complicated one.

Everyone who lives in the Borough understands the need for police protection; everyone, homeowner and renter alike, understands that a property tax increase means that the cost of housing will rise. And everyone knows that a decision has to be made.

My own view is this: First, we should try to collect the $120,000 per year from the merchants in the Central Business District, in the form of a Special Improvement District tax. (New York City has created similar entities in many parts of Manhattan, and the local businesses who are paying these special taxes are applauding the results.)

The CBD requires more than its share of police services, and it will receive most of the benefit of the increased police presence; the CBD should bear its burden.

Second, if we do not, or cannot, create a Special Improvement District, we should ask Chief Michaud, a candid man whom we are lucky to have, to tell us exactly which services would be affected by a denial of his request. We then could have a very public discussion about which services, if any, we are willing to lose, or whether we want to increase our taxes. Such a discussion would help all our citizens increase their knowledge of not only our local government, but also our Police Department; and such a discussion would lead to a decision which would be understood, if not supported, by everyone.

Should you have any questions or comments, you may call either Mark Freda or myself, Democrats for Borough Council.

Shoppers May "Check-Out Hunger" At Local Supermarkets During October

To the Editor of Town Topics:

We would like to thank the managers and employees of our local supermarkets, particularly Superfresh, Davidson's, and McCaffrey's, for their enthusiastic cooperation in promoting the "Check-Out Hunger" campaign in Princeton. "Check-Out Hunger" is an effort on the part of the Community FoodBank of New Jersey and the Retail Grocery Industry to fight hunger in New Jersey.

During October and November grocery store shoppers can make a $1, $2 or $5 donation to the FoodBank at their check-out line. They simply tear off a tag from a "Check-Out Hunger" display placard and present it for scanning with their other grocery items, and the donation is included in the shopper's total bill. One hundred percent of the donation is automatically transmitted to the New Jersey FoodBank to be used to feed the hungry. One hundred percent of our donations in Princeton will stay here in Mercer County.

We are "Check-Out Hunger" volunteers and we also work in Trenton distributing Community FoodBank food directly to local nonprofit organizations that feed the hungry. We know that every dollar donated to the FoodBank represents $12 to $15 worth of food distributed to the needy. We invite all Princeton citizens to show that they care and join the "Check-Out Hunger" team by making a donation at McCaffrey's, Davidson's or Superfresh. We can each make a difference.

New Look & New Hours At The Princeton U-Store

Princeton's long-time favorite mini department store, the Princeton University Store at 36 University Place, has a new look.

More open space is visible in all departments, displaying merchandise in an accessible and attractive manner. Employees sport new outfits, with black polo or sweat shirts, orange U-Store logo, and khaki pants, worn to help customers readily identify store personnel.

IT'S NEW To Us

The store's new logo, recently introduced in its advertising campaign, combines Princeton's traditional orange and black motif in a new striped format.

"The idea is we are trying to earn our stripes every day," explains U-Store President, Jim Sykes.

"The store needed to be updated and remodeled," he continues. "We decided to do some extensive market research, and with the help of Edison Media Research, we interviewed more than 1,000 townspeople, students, and catalog customers.

"There were phone interviews with 150 townspeople and 150 students, who were asked about the conditions when they shopped. We got a lot of demographic information and also information on how we performed — service, prices, efficiency, etc."

The resulting data was extensive and sometimes surprising, he adds.

"In the surveys, there was a lot of concern about parking, and in a lot of cases, people didn't realize the store was for everyone; they thought it was just for students. And many people didn't know the hours the store was open. We also found that only .3 of 1% of customers were shopping in the shoe department.

"So we took a look at all that, and developed a strategy. We decided what we had to have — text books, trade books, Princeton insignia items and gifts, and stationery and student supplies. This was our core.

Major Decision

"The other businesses — recorded music, shoes, apparel, accessories, photography and electronics, we had to look at in terms of service and profitability. We at least had to break even. We couldn't subsidize them. We had been losing money in shoes, and were not making money in recorded and classical music. So we had to make a decision on how to go forward."

A major decision was to close the shoe department, and direct its space to higher end Princeton insignia gifts. This has been successful, Mr. Sykes reports, and the section has shown significant increases.

The classical music department, so important to many in Princeton, as well as to non-residents, who often travel long distances to the store, has remained intact for the present, with Marvin Rosen still in charge.

In addition, more CDs and cassettes in popular music, including rock, pop, jazz, easy listening, and New Age, have been added to the recorded music department.

Sheet music of all kinds is also still available, and Mr. Sykes points out that customers can try out the music on the store's organ.

"We have one of the largest selections of sheet music in the country," he says. "Whether you want piano methods and instruction or choral music, it's here."

Long History

The primary factor in all the decision-making was customer service," explains Mr. Sykes. This is in keeping with the store's long history, which dates to 1903, when it was founded as a co-op by Princeton University students and faculty to furnish students with basic needs, such as textbooks and school supplies.

The store was and is separate from Princeton University, and is operated by the President, members, and a board of directors, which is composed of University alumni, faculty, staff, and students.

The store has had several locations through the years, moving to its current location in 1958. It gradually added more and more merchandise, and today, customers can accomplish a lot of shopping under the U-Store's roof. Books, music, men's and women's clothing, Princeton insignia items and gifts, stationery and greeting cards, photography and electronics, sports equipment, snack food and sundries, and a very popular Clinique cosmetic counter for men and women are all available.

In addition, The Princeton Pharmacy, under separate ownership, is also on the premises.

Mr. Sykes, a native of Seattle, came on board a year ago, after working in department store in North Carolina. He is pleased to take on the challenge this unique store offers.

"This is very different," he points out. "The motivation. We're driven more by service here than profitability. Of course, we need to be efficient and successful, but service is number one."

With this in mind, he explains that many of the changes at the U-Store are definitely customer-friendly.

Centralized check-out on each floor, management personnel on each floor specifically to help customers, and new registers throughout the store are some of the additions.

"Dorothy Massaro is the customer service manager for the store," says Mr. Sykes, "and we have a person on each floor responsible for that floor, and they manage the departments, merchandising, and sales people. We also have all new registers in the store, and you can buy anything on any floor or on any register. The scanner system speeds up transactions, and you get through the lines faster.

New Hours

"In the book department," he adds, "we opened up the area, and expanded the section for Princeton authors. In addition, we now offer the same discounts as Barnes & Noble — 30% off hard cover best sellers, 20% off paperback best sellers, and 10% off all hardcovers. We still continue to have the sale tables, including sale remainders of art and literary works, and this week University Press books will be on sale."

Mr. Sykes reports that customers are pleased with the store's new look and policies, including the extended hours: 9 to 9 Monday through Saturday, and 11 to 6 on Sunday.

"The new hours began September 1, and this is a help to people who can now come in after work," he explains. "They are very positive about this."

Changes and additions to the merchandise have also met with approval, he adds. A more informal look to the men's department includes the addition of Dockers and

NEW LOOK: A new selection of Polo and Nautica informal apparel is now available in the men's department of the Princeton University Store. Jackie Martin of the men's and sports apparel department is shown holding a Polo shirt. Ms. Martin is also dressed in the new outfit, worn by all U-Store staffers: black polo or sweat shirt, with new orange store logo, and khaki pants or skirt.

Marion is going home today, with a little help from her friends!

Marion is another one of our rehabilitation success stories. An extended hospital stay left Marion weakened and unable to care for herself. But with just two weeks of daily rehabilitation at our department, Marion is ready to go back to her apartment and her kitty in Lawrenceville.

For more information on how you or your loved one can become a Hamilton Continuing Care Center success story, please call Jennifer Hess, Admission Coordinator at (609) 588-0091.

READING ROOM: Mary Bliss of the Princeton University Store's book department is shown in the store's new alcove in the Print & Poster room. Looking out on Blair Arch, this room offers five easy chairs for reading, as well as a coffee bar with complimentary coffee. "We encourage people to sit down with a book or enjoy the art and relax," says store President, Jim Sykes.

Levis, and reflects the more casual style of dress in all areas today. Sports coats, trousers, ties, etc. are still all on hand.

Tommy Hilfiger fragrances have also been introduced, and "Tommy Girl" is available for women.

Higher end Princeton gifts now occupy the area that was the shoe department, and include handsome Princeton captain chairs, clocks, silver mugs, and lamps, among many other items.

There is also a much expanded art supply department, with paper, sketch pads, brushes, paints all offered.

"People are doing more artwork at home as a hobby," notes Mr. Sykes. "It can be very relaxing.

"We also have a very nice assortment of Crane's stationery, as well as a very big greeting card selection. We do all special orders for cards and stationery."

Lowered Prices

The photography department has an extensive film selection, and now emphasizes cameras in the $50 to $100 range.

Phones, fax and answering machines continue to be in demand, and Mr. Sykes says that there is now a large computer software and supplies department, with disks, paper, mouse pads and other needs available.

"Also, since Woolworth's closed," he adds, "we lowered prices in our sundries department, and we also have a good selection of dorm supplies for students, including towels, bedding, and accessories."

The U-Store is traditionally very busy in September when the students return, he notes, and this year was no exception.

"We do 10% of our annual business in one week in September!" he exclaims.

But, as he emphasizes, the University Store's role as a convenience store for the entire community is the major focus. And it is an opportunity that he personally welcomes.

For the Community

"Here, we have one of the last opportunities to be a generalist. It's a growth experience, and I have also really enjoyed the contact with the students, community, and faculty, and interaction with all the people here. It's a great experience.

"Our niche here is to be a convenience store for the community, so people don't have to drive to the malls. Also, our heritage is the co-op, and we should provide the best customer service and be truly helpful to people.

"I look forward to major opportunities and our goals going forward," he continues. "We really need to figure out what businesses our customers and members want and run these businesses as efficiently and effectively as possible. This includes the technological aspects of doing business in the 21st Century. We have to be computerized. The pace of change is incredible, and you have to keep up.

"Most of all," he stresses, "customers can be sure that our focus is on quality and best value, but always quality, and always service."

And where else can customers find a Beethoven score, a fax machine, and Princeton tiger boxer shorts — all under one roof?

The University Store offers gift certificates and complimentary gift wrapping. Hours are 9 to 9 Monday through Saturday, 11 to 6 on Sunday. 921-8500.

THEATER REVIEW

Princeton Shakespeare Company Presents Memorable Production Of "Julius Caesar" on the Plaza of the Woodrow Wilson School

CONSPIRATORS: Kate MacKenzie (left front), Dan Cryer, Atu Darko, Marc Rosen and Damian Long prepare to kill Caesar (Rush Howell).

Proclaiming "peace, freedom and liberty," the six conspirators stoop down and wash their hands in the copious blood of the once all-powerful Caesar, who now lies dead at the edge of the blood-red waters of the fountain in front of the tall white columns of the Woodrow Wilson School facade. "How many ages hence," observes Cassius, co-leader of the assassins, "shall this our lofty scene be acted o'er, in states unborn and accents yet unknown!"

And this memorable moment, just one of many in Princeton Shakespeare Company's thoroughly engaging production of Julius Caesar, opens multiple perspectives in a flash — on the Roman senate of 44 B.C., on Shakespeare's theater of 1600 and on the centuries in between. We observe Brutus, Cassius and the Woodrow Wilson School backdrop, and we reflect on others throughout history who have thought they must do evil to achieve an ultimate good.

Directed by Princeton University senior John Smelcer, the mostly undergraduate PSC creatively takes advantage of the dynamic setting, uses only 15 busy and talented performers for more than 25 parts, and brings to vibrant life a play that has been far from the Bard's most popular (except among high school English teachers) in recent years.

Exciting, Fast-Paced, Violent

The production, with the audience sitting in bleachers under the stars between the Woodrow Wilson School building and the fountain just off Washington Road, is exciting, fast-paced and violent — hardly surprising with "33 knife wounds" for Caesar, and the Battle of Philippi and three suicides in rapid succession for a conclusion.

In addition to their inspired choice of venue, Mr. Smelcer and the PSC have made several other smart decisions in tackling this ambitious project. They have cut the play to a streamlined two hours total; they have limited the audience to 150 to ensure close proximity for all and optimum audibility of those challenging Shakespearean lines; and they have emulated Shakespeare's brilliantly simple stagecraft, which relies on the audience's imagination to permit complete freedom of time and space.

Through Brutus's mental anguish, the growing plot to assassinate Caesar, the deed itself in the Roman Capitol and the fierce war that ensues, the play spans many months of Roman history and many different locales, public and private, from Rome to Philippi. Both Shakespeare and the PSC, however, realize the infinite power of enlisting the audience's willing suspension of disbelief. There is no mechanistic realism here and no specificity of period scenery, props or costumes.

In addition to the Woodrow Wilson School facade, front steps and fountain, the simple, symmetrical set consists of black curtains blocking the School's front doorway, a large red banner with a black fist (changed to an open hand after the fall of Caesar) in the middle, two television monitors on tripods, a narrow platform built out over the center of the steps, and a round white platform in the center of the playing area between the steps and the fountain.

Red Foundatin Waters

Martin Kemp's effective, economical lighting design includes six instruments on the far side of the fountain and three more at the bottom of the steps on each side to illuminate the stage, and assist the text and actors in clarifying transitions in time and place. There are two additional special lights to redden the fountain waters at the appropriate time. Eight torches, and later a red and a white banner, border the playing area.

The costume design by Maria Burnett is similarly efficient, simple and timeless. The color black predominates, with everybody in sneakers, Calpurnia and Portia in black dresses with white stripes, Cassius and Brutus in red work-out pants, Caesar and Antony in white pants with white sashes across their chests, red sashes for the conspirators and a black leather jacket for the soothsayer. Throughout this swift, smooth show, the simplicity in color and design are striking and add immeasurably to the life that pervades every scene.

The final three performances of Julius Caesar before a road trip to area high schools, will take place this Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 9 through 11 at 8 p.m. in front of the Woodrow Wilson School on Washington Road. For reservations, call 258-2255 and spell out "Shakespeare."

Mr. Smelcer has staged the play to maximize physicality, movement and audience involvement. There is singing, fighting (skillfully choreographed by Marc Rosen) and clever dramatic use of the fountain. Amidst all of the activity, however, the 15 actors do eloquent justice to Shakespeare's mighty lines. Several of his most famous — from "It was Greek to me" to "The fault, dear Brutus, is not in our stars, but in ourselves," "Et tu, Brute?" "Friends, Romans and countrymen, lend me your ears," "There is a tide in the affairs of men, which, taken at the flood leads on to fortune" and others — appear here. The diction is clear, the expression is powerful, and the characterizations are intelligent, interesting and credible.

The strong cast is led by senior Damian Long, veteran of many Theatre Intime and Princeton Summer Theatre productions, as the sympathetic, troubled Brutus; sophomore Kathryne MacKenzie as a highly articulate, intense Cassius; junior Rush Howell as a forceful, angry Caesar; senior Marc Rosen as a clever, amusing Casca; and junior Dale Ho as the manipulative Marc Antony.

High-spirited, energetic and thoroughly competent support comes from Brian Bennett as the soothsayer (also a TV cameraman in this production), Professor Thomas P. Roche as Cicero, Dan Cryer, Atu Darko, David Grossman, Jonathan Howe, Tracee Roderick, Nick Salvato, James Stanford and Naomi Waletsky. —Donald Gilpin

Shakespeare in the Square On Weekend of Oct. 18

Princeton Repertory Company and Palmer Square present the 3rd Annual Shakespeare in the Square Festival Weekend on Saturday and Sunday, October 18 and 19, on the Green at Palmer Square.

Both festival days will begin at noon with a free Shakespeare workshop for children and adults on the Green. The workshop is designed to help readers and performers find the clues and the fun in Shakespeare's text.

Janus Auman of The Unrehearsed Shakespeare Company will conduct the workshops. Ms. Auman was the artistic director of The New Hampshire Shakespeare Festival for three years. Her directorial work for The Kings County Shakespeare Festival brought her productions of A Midsummer Night's Dreom and The Winter's Tole to The Brooklyn Academy of Music.

As the founder and producing artistic director of The Unrehearsed Shakespeare Company, Ms. Auman is dedicated to reviving the 400-year-old art of performing Shakespeare "unrehearsed" from First Folio cue scripts. Unrehearsed Shakespeare is a performance technique that replicates the conditions under which Shakespeare's Company worked.

The Shakespeare workshop is followed by a free professional production of As You Like It at 2 p.m. directed by Jennifer Spahr. As You Like It, one of Shakespeare's most enjoyable comedies, explores the motivations and commitment of four pairs of lovers. Two young women, one disguised as a man, are banished and set adrift in the strange and magical forest of Arden.

SHAKESPEARE IN THE SQUARE: Christopher Patrick Mullen and Laura Poe star in the Princeton Repertory Company's third annual Shakespeare in the Square Festival on Saturday and Sunday, October 18 and 19, on the Green at Palmer Square.

Jennifer Spahr is the co-founder of Shakespeare in the Park(ing) Lot and the executive director of Expanded Arts in New York City. She has directed A Midsummer Night's Dreom, Julius Coesor, The Winter's Tole, and Hamlet.

The Festival Weekend is produced by Princeton Rep producing directors Victoria Liberatori and Anne Reiss, along with the merchants of Palmer Square. Additional support was provided by Dow Jones, Inc., Lenox, Inc., Princeton BMW, and the Friends of Princeton Rep.

For additional information or to volunteer or to make a donation to Princeton Rep, call 921-3682. The Shakespeare in the Square Festival weekend is free, rain or shine.

Musical Amateurs Open1997-98 Season

Charles R. Harris, musical director of the First Presbyterian Church of Redbank,will lead the Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs in its first session of the 1997-98 season with an informal reading of Haydn's The Seasons on Sunday, October 12, at 4 p.m. in the Unitarian Church of Princeton on Route 206 at Cherry Hill Road. Soloists for this reading will be Margaret Poyner, soprano, Jack Zamboni, tenor, and William Walker, bass. A 35-piece chamber orchestra will provide the accompaniment. No audition is required for anyone wishing to sing in the chorus.

Anyone who enjoys choral singing is welcome to join the chorus on a one-time basis for a $5 admission fee or to join as a member for the season for $25 ($35 for couples). The admission fee includes refreshments and the use of a choral score. Students and nonparticipants are admitted free of charge.

The monthly meetings of the Society, now in its 63rd year, are attended by an average of 100 singers and an orchestra of 35. Prominent choral conductors, drawn from the Central Jersey area, take the podium each month and professional soloists usually handle the solo parts. The organization is ideal for the individual who enjoys making music but cannot give time to rehearsing for a performance. Orchestra personnel play by invitation.

The selections comprise the better-known choral/orchestral masterworks from the baroque to the contemporary. Next month (November 9), Allen Crowell will lead the group in Handel's Israel in Egypt. For information, call Mary Kemp, president, at 394-5034.

Kelsey Theatre Offers "Gulliver's Travels"

Sail Productions' original musical version of Gulliver's Trovels will be performed at the Kelsey Theatre on the West Windsor campus of Mercer County Community College, 1200 Old Trenton Road, on Saturday, October 11 at 2 and 4 p.m.

England's greatest satirist, Jonathan Swift, wrote the ultimate parody on early 18th century travel books when he told the story of Dr. Lemuel Gulliver who longed for adventure. Dissatisfied with his medical practice in England, Gulliver signs on to board a ship bound for far off places. Instead he becomes the lone survivor of a shipwreck that strands him in some very bizarre places and an encounter with the Lilliputians, people no bigger than six inches.

Tickets are $7. Free parking is available across from the theatre. To order tickets, call the Kelsey Hotline at 584-9444.

MUSIC REVIEW

Princeton University's Evening of Chamber Jazz Performed Before a Small But Appreciative Audience

When one thinks about Princeton University's Music Department, a thriving program in jazz performance does not immediately leap to mind. But Friday night's concert in Richardson Auditorium, "Composing in the Moment: An Evening of Chamber Jazz," showed that jazz is indeed enjoying attention and support from the department. If the small size of the audience on Friday evening is any indication, however, the same kind of attention and support are not yet coming from the Princeton concert-going community.

The concert was presented under the auspices of the Richardson Chamber Players, a group consisting of the musicians who teach instrumental music and voice at the University. Anthony Branker, Director of Jazz Ensembles, and three other faculty members — Bruce Arnold (guitar), John Arrucci (percussion), and Michael Cochrane (piano) — contributed compositions of their own as well as performed. Following the tradition of Chamber Players' concerts, they invited several of their accomplished students to join them.

Elegant improvisation characterized the first-half set, played by the four faculty members with Max Abrams '99 (saxophone) and Darryl Hall (bass). Each faculty member contributed a composition to the set. Ranging from upbeat to mellow, the works gave ample opportunity for the players to spin intricate musical webs, both individually and together.

The complementary nature of the solos was especially nice in these pieces. In Cutting Edge, for example, the piano solo concentrated on busy, swirling patterns, the trumpet then pounced on complex, staccato rhythms, the guitar solo followed with explorations of long, winding melodies, and the saxophone dressed up the main melody with lavish ornamentation. Throughout this piece and the entire set, John Arrucci showed how versatile a role the drums could play, with artful contrasts in volume and a myriad of stick, brush, and drum combinations.

The second half of the concert offered a variety of instrumental combinations and musical styles. The piano performance by Charles Sillo '99 of You Speak My Language skipped, danced, and jabbed playfully. Max Abrams '99 showed impressive technical prowess on the sax in In o Sentimental Mood.

Marissa Steingold '98 sang in three numbers, including an encore. Using her velvet tone and wide range to great advantage, she leaped from high to low pitches with ease and frolicked gracefully up and down numerous scales.

In the two remaining concerts of the series, the Richardson Chamber Players will turn to classical music. The February 6 performance will feature instrumental Viennese favorites, and the May 1 concert will focus on vocal chamber music, including some of Brahms' Liebeslieder waltzes.

First Concert Of New Season Set By P.U. Orchestra

The Princeton University Orchestra under the direction of Michael Pratt will open its season with concerts on October 17 and 18 in Richardson Auditorium in Alexander Hall at 8. These concerts will also celebrate the rededication of the Woolworth Center of Musical Studies and the Scheide Music Library.

The Princeton University Chamber Chorus will join the orchestra for the festive first movement of Johann Sebastian Bach's Cantata No. 11, known as the Ascension Oratorio. This performance will use Bach's original text which celebrated the opening of a new school, especially appropriate for this occasion. The program then continues with Bach's Concerto for Two Violins in D Minor, one of Bach's most popular concerti. The featured soloists are Mark Steinberg and Serena Canin, familiar to Princeton audiences as members of the Brentano String Quartet.

Mark Steinberg holds degrees from Indiana University and The Juilliard School. He has performed at chamber music festivals in the United States and abroad, including the Marlboro Music Festival. He has previously appeared in Princeton performing concerti of Alban Berg with the University Orchestra and the Composers' Ensemble.

Serena Canin was born into a family of professional musicians. She holds degrees from Swarthmore and Juilliard. She has performed at the Bowdoin, Marlboro, and Taos Festivals, and toured extensively with Music from Marlboro, the Brandenburg Ensemble, and Gollard Concerts.

The program pays homage to two individuals responsible for the renovation of Woolworth: William H. Scheide '36 and internationally renowned architect Juan Navarro Baldeweg of Madrid.

The inclusion of Bach's music in the program will be no surprise to the many friends of William H. Scheide. "Bill's loyal and passionate support of music at Princeton has taken many forms," notes Michael Pratt, "and our inclusion of his most beloved composer is our very inadequate thank you to him."

The concert will continue with the majestic Symphony No. 4 in D minor of Robert Schumann.

To honor the architect of Woolworth, the performance will conclude with perhaps the most widely known Spanish orchestral works, Manuel de Falla's Suites No's 1 and 2 from The Three Cornered Hat.

Tickets for the October concerts, priced at $12; students $5; are available from the Richardson Box Office, 258-5000.

American Rep Ballet To Open New Season At State Theatre

American Repertory Ballet will open its 1997-98 season on Saturday, October 18, at 8 p.m. at the State Theatre in New Brunswick for one show only. Featured will be a world premier and two company premieres.

George Balanchine's modernist classic, The Four Temperaments, generally considered to be one of the great ballets of the 20th century, is featured as a company premiere. Completed in 1946 to a score Balanchine commissioned from German composer Paul Hindemith, The Four Temperaments is today hailed as a seminal work.

ARB will also perform Lila York's three-movement Rapture. Created in 1995 for the Juilliard School, Rapture is abstract, emotional and powerful. It was inspired by the AIDS-related deaths of dancers Clark Tippet of American Ballet Theatre and Christopher Gillis, a colleague of Ms. York's in Paul Taylor's company.

Ms. York has set Paul Taylor works on major companies internationally and has choreographed her own works for Boston Ballet, Atlanta Ballet, England's Birmingham Royal Ballet, San Francisco Ballet, and others.

MOLLY DALY may be seen in American Repertory Ballet's production of George Balanchine's "The Four Temperaments" on Saturday, October 18, at the State Theatre in New Brunswick.

ARB Artistic Director Septime Webre refers to The Space Behind Me, his latest work, as " ... very much about angels in our presence and how, if we allow it, they can be an active force in our lives, whether we see them as part of a god or as ideals." Resident Lighting Designer Chenault Spence and Costume Designer Christina Giannini will assist Mr. Webre in the realization of the work.

In addition to the performance, which begins at 8, the opening night committee, chaired by Linda Gecha of Princeton, welcomes patrons to a pre-theater dinner at Napolitano's in New Brunswick. Dinner reservation only is $50; dinner and theater ticket is $75; and the cost for the entire evening, including a post-show reception, is $125. For information call (732) 249-1254.

Musicians Benefit From Expansion Of Woolworth Center

Princeton's Department of Music will gain space and a new library this month when the University rededicates an expanded Woolworth Center for Musical Studies and dedicates the Scheide Music Library on October 17.

The dedication, which starts with a 3:30 p.m. reception and follows with a 4:15 p.m. ceremony, marks the completion of the two-year project, which has increased available space for music students and faculty by 75 percent. The project's total cost will be $11.5 million, an amount that includes funds for outfitting studios, creating "smart" classrooms, acquiring state-of-the-art audio and video equipment and software.

"For the first time, we have everything — carrels, a listening room, reading room, video viewing area, graduate seminar room and library under one roof," said Paul Lansky, professor of music and department chair.

The new Woolworth's design is the work of Juan Navarro Baldeweg of Madrid, with drawings and specifications implemented by Wank Adams Slavin of New York City. The new center is bathed in "vast amounts of natural light," Prof. Lansky said. "You walk into an atrium illuminated by huge skylights. You can see the three floors of the library on one side enclosed in glass, the classroom wing on the other side and the administrative offices above."

Michael Keller, director of Stanford University Libraries, was the library consultant. Carl Rosenberg of Acentech of Cambridge, Mass., served as acoustic consultant. Mr. Rosenberg helped in the design of the new McAlpin Rehearsal Hall, located underneath the library, and the new music technology studios.

The Scheide Music Library represents the largest portion of the expansion. Before the library's completion, holdings of the Department of Music were housed in Firestone Library. The new music library holds 30,000 books, 35,000 scores, 4,500 selections on microfilm and 46,000 recordings, in addition to expanding selections on video and CD-ROM.

Pianist Cameron Stowe, a native of Danville, Virginia, is currently a candidate for the Doctor of Musical Arts Degree at The Juilliard School, where he studies song recital repertory. As an accompanist, he has performed at Weill Recital Hall, The Smithsonian Institution, and at Tanglewood's Seiji Ozawa Hall as a fellowship recipient. Mr. Stowe recently completed a concert tour of France with soprano Kelly Nasief, sponsored and broadcast by Radio France.

To begin the program, Mr. Scarlata has chosen Ludwig van Beethoven's An die ferne Geliebte, Opus 98; three Schubert settings of texts by Karl Gottfried von Leitner; and the five songs of Opus 48 by Edvard Grieg. Following intermission, La fraicheur et le feu by Francis Poulenc; Three Songs, Opus 45, of Samuel Barber; and All The Way Through Evening: Five Nocturnes for Baritone and Piano by Chris DeBlasio conclude the program.

The October 19 concert is open to the general public, which is invited to attend without admission charge. For information call 258-5000.

Silent "Phantom" At University Chapel With Accompaniment

Back by popular demand, the original 1925 silent film, Phantom of the Opera, with live organ accompaniment will be presented at the Princeton University Chapel on Friday, October 17 at 10 p.m. Former Radio City Music Hall organist David Messineo will create and provide the accompaniment on the University's 109-stop E.M. Skinner/N.P. Mander organ.

The classic film, starring Lon Chaney as the Phantom, is based on Gaston Leroux's horror novel. The plot revolves around the mysterious masked phantom of the Paris Opera House, who falls in love with the beautiful young soprano Christine Daae. Much to the dismay of the Phantom, Opera House singer Raoul de Chagny attempts to win the affections of Christine. Jealous of Raoul, the Phantom kidnaps Christine through a trapped door during a performance and takes her to his subterranean home. Raoul, guided by a Persian who has known the Phantom as a criminal, finds his way into the underground. The tale builds to a terrifying climax as the Phantom is chased through the catacombs of Paris, leading to his self-destruction.

Organist David Messineo will augment the chilling sensations and sensual moments in the story through the varied tone colors of the magnificent Chapel organ. The instrument's lush strings and powerful reeds will keep the audience on the edge of its seat as Mr. Messineo enhances the drama that unfolds on the silent screen.

In preparing for the performance, Mr. Messineo practices on his home organ while watching the movie on a television monitor. He states that, "while each character has his or her own theme, most of the music is improvised. The most dramatic scene of the movie is when Christine removes the Phantom's mask. At this point, the music builds and builds until you hear the full power of the organ when the Phantom goes into his frantic rage."

David Messineo is Minister of Music at the Glen Ridge Congregational Church where he directs a program of six choirs and a concert series. In addition, he teaches organ at Montclair State College. Mr. Messineo graduated with honors in organ performance with the Doctorate of Musical Arts degree from The Juilliard School.

Tickets to the movie, priced at $5, will be available at the door of the Princeton University Chapel beginning at 9 on the night of the performance. Due to the popularity of this event, the audience is encouraged to arrive early for a good seat. For more information, call 258-3654.

TERROR AT THE CHAPEL: The original 1925 silent movie, "Phantom of the Opera," with live organ accompaniment, will be shown at the Princeton University Chapel on October 17 at 10 p.m.

Award-Winning Film To Open Cinema Cafe

The Global Cinema Cafe, will open its 1997-98 season with Judith Helfand's A Healthy Baby Girl, on Sunday, October 12 at 3 p.m. at the Arts Council of Princeton, 102 Witherspoon Street. Filmmaker Judith Helfand will participate in a discussion immediately following the screening.

In 1963, Ms. Helfand's mother was prescribed the synthetic hormone diethylstilbestrol (DES), meant to prevent miscarriage. At age 25 Judith was diagnosed with DES-related cancer. She went home to heal from a radical hysterectomy and picked up her video camera. Told with humor, warmth and intimacy, A Healthy Baby Girl is a DES daughter's diary about "wonder drugs" and rude awakenings.

Told through Ms. Helfand's family's voices and from their home, the film offers an intimate and unique perspective from a typical American family as they deal with what motherhood means in our time as well as the specter of reproductive technology, toxic exposure, and unbridled corporate power.

Featuring an original score performed by the Klezmatics, A Healthy Baby Girl had screenings this year at the Sundance Film Festival and San Francisco Jewish Film Festival. It was broadcast nationally on the PBS series P.O.V. this past June. The film has been awarded Best Video Documentary/Atlanta Film Festival, Best Documentary/Central Florida Film Festival and Best Documentary/Melbourne International Film Festival.

Judith Helfand is an independent film and video maker based in New York. She co-produced and co-directed with George Stoney The Uprising of '34, an award-winning documentary that draws on the hidden history of the General Textile Strike of 1934 to explore labor, power and economics in the South today..

She worked as an associate producer on two other PBS documentaries: Broken Minds, a Frontline episode on the treatment and mistreatment of schizophrenia and the homeless mentally ill, and Through the Wire, a film about an experimental maximum security unit for women political prisoners in the U.S., which aired on P.O.V. She is a graduate of New York University's Tisch School of the Arts, Undergraduate Film and Television Program.

The Global Cinema Cafe is a free montly series of contemporary films and videos that focus on peace, justice and human rights at home and abroad. Videos are shown in an informal setting with cookies, coffee and tea, the second Sunday of every month and are followed by an open discussion.

The Global Cinema Cafe is sponsored by the Central Jersey Branch of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, and is co-sponsored by the Arts Council of Princeton, Coalition for Peace Action, Princeton Area Friends of Tibet, Princeton Area NOW, N.J. Brass Quintet, Organist Combine for Trinity Concert

Concerts by Candlelight presents the first concert of the season on Sunday, October 19, at 4:30 p.m. in Trinity Church, 33 Mercer Street. Academy Brass Quintent will join forces with organist Scott Dettra at the mighty Casavant, to present a concert of stirring classics.

The Academy Brass has been praised for its "rich, mighty sound," and is regularly heard at major concert venues in and around the Philadelphia area, including the Academy of Music. Scott Dettra's playing of the Handel Organ Concerto on last year's Concerts by Candlelight series was broadcast nationally over NPR. Together they will play organ and brass concertos by Vierne and Dupré, and a motet by Gabrielli. The Ensemble will perform several pieces from its Russian repertoire, and will present the Intermezzo by Philadelphia composer Claudio Triputti.

Tickets are $15 at the door; $10 for senior citizens and students.. . . . . .

KINGSTON TRIO PERFORMS: East Windsor Township will present The Kingston Trio in a special free community concert celebrating the township's Bicentennial on Sunday, October 12, at 2 p.m. at Hightstown High School. A symbol of the American folk music culture, the group is known for such hits as "Tom Dooley," "The M.T.A.," "Where Have All the Flowers Gone" and "Scotch and Soda."

Composers' Ensemble Presents New Works In First Performance

The Composers' Ensemble at Princeton will present its first performance of the current academic year on Thursday, October 16, at Taplin Auditorium in Fine Hall at 8.

Eminent violoncellist Fred Sherry will perform San Francisco for 'cello and guitar composed by Professor of Music Steven Mackey, who will participate as guitarist. "The city's gentle groove, the wafts of eucalyptus, and something vaguely oriental just took over," notes the composer. "and consistent with that vibe is a spirit of diversity and inclusiveness."

Local audiences will remember Fred Sherry's performances of Professor Mackey's Banana/Dumptruck with the Princeton University Orchestra at Richardson Auditorium last December. Since the early 1970s, Mr. Sherry has been an active performer with The Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center, and served as its Artistic Director from 1989 to 1992. He is currently on the faculty of The Juilliard School.

Martha Elliott, soprano, will sing Cleophila for solo voice by J.K. Randall, Professor of Music at Princeton, Emeritus. The work is a setting of a poem by Sir Philip Sidney. "I proceeded singlemindedly out of longstanding love for a poem which seemed to me to give English a good name," says Professor Randall.

Two works for unaccompanied tape, Professor Paul Lansky's Andalusia and Assistant Professor Paul Koonce's Walkabout, will also be heard. Pianists Lisa Moore and Sara Laimon will perform selected etudes by graduate student Daniel Cooper. Ms. Laimon will also perform Stop-Action for piano and tape by Matthew Schumaker GS. The final solo work on the program will be Lexicon for violin by Inouk Demers GS.

The October 16 performance is open to the general public, which is invited to attend without admission charge. Taplin Auditorium is located in Fine Hall, near the corner of Washington Road and Ivy Lane. For information, call 258-5000.

The original Woolworth Center was built in 1963 and named for Frank Winfield Woolworth, the discount-store founder and grandfather of Frasier Winfield McCann, Class of 1930. Mr. McCann and his sister, Helena McCann Charlton, donated funds to build the center. The building held the sound library, practice rooms and some faculty and administrative offices. In addition to the department's collection of books and music, Firestone Library housed musicology seminars and some faculty offices.

The new Scheide Music Library is named for William H. Scheide '36, of Princeton, a leading expert on Johann Sebastian Bach and owner of the Scheide Library, one of the world's preeminent collections of rare books and manuscripts, which is housed in Firestone Library. Established in the 1860s by Mr. Scheide's grandfather, this library has some 3,000 volumes, including a Gutenberg Bible, a 1456 Papal bull, a 14th-century Magna Carta and a first edition of Milton's Paradise Lost.

In 1946, as a way to bring more of Bach's works to the public, Scheide founded the Bach Aria Group in New York, a chamber ensemble with both vocalists and instrumentalists that made numerous recordings and performed regularly on radio and on tour. Mr. Scheide personally managed the group before retiring in 1980.

Classical Indian Dance At Mercer County College

Lakshmi, an interpreter of the classical South Indian music and dance known as bharata natyam, will perform on Sunday, October 12 at 4 p.m. at the Kelsey Theatre on the West Windsor campus of Mercer County Community College. Ticket prices are $18 for adults, $12 for seniors, children, students and Mercer alumni. Free parking is available across from the theater. To order tickets, call 584-9444.

Lakshmi dances in the traditional bharata natyam style of her family under the musical direction of her uncle, T. Viswanathan. The style conveys the moods and feelings common to all humankind, while remaining true to the rich traditions of India's highly developed heritage. The expressive dance of "abhinaya" illustrates bharata natyam as a multidisciplinary artform with poetry, music, dance and drama woven together to illuminate the complete range of human emotions.

Hailed by critics and artists worldwide as one of the great performers of the century, T. Balasaraswati founded the Balasaraswati School of Indian Music and Dance in Madras, India. Now headed by his daughter, Lakshmi, the school has branches in the tri-state New Jersey, New York and Connecticut area, where its artists teach classical music and dance. Lakshmi is a multiple recipient of National Endowment for the Arts fellowships for her elaborately choreographed performance.

Comedy About Aladdin Can be Seen at Kelsey

Aladdin and the Wonderful Lamp will be performed by the student and community theater troupe, The Mercer Storytellers, on Friday, October 17 at 7 and Saturday and Sunday, October 18 and 19 at 2 and 4. Tickets are $7. To order, call 584-9444.

Under the direction of Donna Miklojcik, this comic dramatization of The Thousand and One Arabian Nights depicts Aladdin's discovery of a magical lamp inside a cave adorned with gold and jewels. Instead of giving the magic lamp with the genie inside to the evil magician, Aladdin uses the lamp to become a prince and win the princess.

But when the evil magician possesses the magic lamp and steals the princess away, how will Aladdin rescue her? A clumsy camel and a silly Wazier round out the cast of characters on this adventurous journey set to music.

Moroccan choreographer Ahmed Bennane, an expert on the region's folkloric dances, choreographed this show, which features original Moroccan props and costumes.

Miami City Ballet to Make New Jersey Debut at McCarter

THE MIAMI CITY BALLET will perform at McCarter Theatre Saturday, October 11 at 8 p.m. and Sunday, October 12 at 2 p.m. Featured will be three Balanchine works.

Miami City Ballet, under the Artistic Direction of Edward Villella, will make its New Jersey debut with two performances at McCarter Theatre on Saturday, October 11 at 8 p.m., and Sunday, October 12 at 2 p.m. A post-performance discussion led by Mr. Villella will immediately follow both performances.

In just 12 years, the 45-member company has developed a dance style so clear, so sharp and so buoyant that it has thrust itself into the upper echelons of America's classical ballet companies — and has become one of the principal keepers of the Balanchine flame. The dancers are rehearsed to perform not only with great speed, energy and technical clarity, but also with the combination of force and delicacy needed to interpret musical scores from Bach to Stravinsky.

The company's McCarter debut will feature three Balanchine works: Scotch Symphony, a high-spirited ballet with music by Felix Mendelssohn featuring intricate footwork that resembles Scottish dancing; Who Cares?, a jazz thriller inspired by American musicals of the 1930's with music by George Gershwin; and the "Rubies" segment from Balanchine's full-length ballet Jewels set to a score by Stravinsky.

Company members come from major dance companies throughout the world, including the New York City Ballet, Dance Theatre of Harlem, Feld Ballets/NY, Boston Ballet, the Deutsche Oper Berlin, as well as dancers who have received their training from the School of American Ballet and the North Carolina School of the Arts, among others.

Tobi Tobias of New York Magazine said, "Watching the ensemble Villella has bred, you feel he has plucked out the ferocious, ardent heart that characterized his own dancing, cut it to pieces, and successfully implanted one of them, in each of his dancers. This dancing has a vitality built on the twin pillars of energy and precision. Along with its tremendous appetite for speed and space, it is as daring (and full of thrills) as sports-car racing."

Edward Villella, in addition to his stellar career as one of the world's premier ballet dancers, is a leading advocate for the arts in America. In recognition of his accomplishments, Mr. Villella has recently been honored with two of the nation's highest artistic achievement awards: the 1997 Medal of Arts Award and the 1997 Kennedy Center Honors. Under Mr. Villella's leadership, Miami City Ballet has performed in 26 states and 67 cities across the United States, and toured throughout Europe, England, Israel, and Central and South America.

Tickets are $33, $36, and $42. To charge tickets by phone, call 683-8000.

Edward Villela Will Lead Post-Show Discussions

McCarter Theatre dance audiences will have a rare opportunity to meet and ask questions of Miami City Ballet Artistic Director Edward Villella when he leads the post-show discussions following the performances of Miami City Ballet on Saturday, October 11 at 8 p.m. and Sunday, October 12 at 2 p.m. The McCarter dates mark the Company's New Jersey debut.

Edward Villella did much to popularize the role of the male in dance through the artistry and virility he exhibited during his performance career. Offstage he has been as influential, accepting the role of Founding Artistic Director of Miami City Ballet in 1986 and achieving worldwide acclaim for the Company.

Edward Villella entered George Balanchine's School of American Ballet at the age of 10 but interrupted his dance training to complete academic studies. A graduate of the New York Maritime Academy, he obtained a B.S. in marine transportation, lettered in baseball and was a championship boxer. He returned to SAB in 1955, and in 1957 was invited to join the New York City Ballet, where he spent his entire dancing career.

Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie" At Theatre Intime

Theatre Intime has announced the opening of one of the most often-performed plays in American repertory theaters, Tennessee Williams' first popular success, The Glass Menagerie. Set in the 1930's St. Louis, this tale of illusion and entrapment recalls the events which drive a young man from his household.

Vitoria Webster '99 returns from directing The Importance of Being Earnest to lead a talented group of experienced actors. The role of Amanda Wingfield, aging southern belle, is played by Jennie Snyder '99 who has returned to Princeton after a year in New York City where she produced and starred in Morioge Blonc by Tadeusz Rosewicz. Her past credits include Hyocinth Mackow, Sister Mory Ignotius Exploins It All To You, PSC's Mocbeth and A Midsummer Night's Dreom.

Tucker Culbertson '99 has been a part of a great many performances here, including True West, PSC's Hamiet and Much Ado About Nothing and The Most Erotic Film Ever: A Play.

Mr. Culbertson plays Tom, who is a poet, movie buff and the narrator of this memory play. Emily Moore '99, of Doughters of Survivol, Hamietmochine and PSC's A Merry Wor is the fragile Laura. Jim O'Connor, the long-awaited gentleman caller, is played by Nick Merritt '99, from A Few Good Men, Crimes of the Heort and, most recently, Brighton Beoch Memoirs. The production uses black and white videography to emphasize the nature of memory and to highlight the playwright's vision.

Performances are October 16-19 and 22-24 at 8. Note that the last three dates have been changed from October 23-25. Ticket prices are $10 general admission, $8 for faculty, staff and senior citizens, and $5 for students. Theatre Intime is located in Murray-Dodge Hall on the Princeton University campus. For reservations or subscription information, call 258-4950.

Rocky Hill Announces Book Fair, Garage Sale

The Rocky Hill Community Group's annual book fair has been scheduled for Saturday, October 18, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Sunday, October 19, noon to 3 p.m. A special preview is planned for Friday, October 17, 5 to 7 p.m. Book dealers and collectors as well as the general public are invited to the Friday evening preview at which a $10 entry fee will be charged to those wishing to attend. There is no admission fee charged on Saturday or Sunday.

The three-day book sale will be held at the Community House, 62 Washington Street (Route 518) in Rocky Hill. Books are priced at $1 for hard covers and 50¢ for paperbacks and children's books. Some specialty books and coffee table books are specially priced.

The Community Group is accepting the donation of books that are in good condition (no textbooks or magazines). There is a drop slot for hard cover and paperback books at the rear of the community house. Those who have a large number of books and need assistance getting them to the community house, should call Lauren Griffiths at 683-0986 and she will arrange a pickup.

The Community Group is also sponsoring the annual town-wide garage sale on Saturday, October 18, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Look for balloons in yards of participating Rocky Hill residents. The rain date is Sunday, October 19.

The Rocky Hill Community Group is a non-profit, volunteer organization formed to provide recreational, educational and cultural activities for the town and neighboring communities. All proceeds from these fund-raisers will go toward community projects such as supporting the Mary Jacobs Library and funding an annual scholarship.

Journalist Edwin Newman To Address English Union

Veteran broadcast journalist and author Edwin Newman will address the English-Speaking Union of the United States on the theme, "Making a Difference Through Language" on Friday, October 17, at the Nassau Inn, as part of the group's 77th annual conference.

Mr. Newman's book, Strictly Speaking: Will America Be the Death of English? was a national best-seller, earning him critical praise — and even the invitation to host Saturday Night Live.

The conference, which will be hosted by the Princeton branch for the first time, will bring together members from across the country to discuss the organization's educational and cultural activities.

The Hon. Christine Todd Whitman, governor, is honorary chairperson of the conference, which will feature business sessions and workshops as well as a dinner on Thursday, October 16, where Princeton University Professor John V. Fleming will share observations about the language drawn from a lifetime of scholarship in English and comparative literature.

The Princeton branch of the English-Speaking Union was formed in 1924. For information, or to attend the dinners or the conference, call Jean Stephens, at 896-1738.

The Delaware Valley Poets, in cooperation with Barnes & Noble bookstores, will present an evening of contemporary poetry readings, at 8 p.m., on October 13, in the Barnes & Noble store at Princeton Market Fair, Route 1 South.

Poets to be featured are Patricia Celley Groth, Patricia Hardigree, and Bruce A. Jacobs.

Mr. Jacobs' first full-length book of poems, Speaking Through My Skin, won the Naomi Long Madgett Poetry Prize.

Ms. Groth, a "Dodge Poet" for the Geraldine R. Dodge Foundation, is a former adjunct professor of English at both Rutgers University and The College of New Jersey. She is a New Jersey Council of the Humanities scholar. Her second book of poetry, The Gods' Eyes, will appear shortly.

Ms. Hardigree has an M.A. in English from Trenton State College. Her poems have appeared in several publications including Kelsey Review and A Hord Turn.

The next workshop by the poetry organization will take place on October 16, at the Lawrenceville Library, Route 1 and Darrah Lane, starting at 7:30 p.m.

For more information, call 392-0689.

"Starting and Managing Your Own Business," a seminar sponsored by the Service Corps of Retired Executives (SCORE) Chapter #631 of Greater Princeton, will take place on Saturday, October 18, from 8 to 1:15 at the Summit Bank Training Center, 2 Center Drive, at Forsgate, in Jamesburg.

The fee is $20 in advance; $25 at the door. For registration information, call Score, at 520-1776.

Support Sources

The Medical Center at Princeton will offer free confidential depression screenings on National Depression Screening Day, Thursday, October 9. Participants will hear a brief talk on depression, complete an anonymous written screening test, and have the opportunity to discuss the results with a mental health professional. Walk-in screenings will be held at the Medical Arts Building, Suite B, 253 Witherspoon Street, from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. The presentation will take place from 7 to 8; both children and adults may be screened.

Starting on October 28, the Center for the Jewish Elderly/Family Caregivers, a program of the Jewish Family & Children's Service of Greater Mercer County, will conduct a four-session support group for individuals caring for elderly relatives. The Caregivers Emotional Support Group will meet on Tuesday evenings, from 7:30 to 9, at the main office of Jewish Family and Children's Service, 707 Alexander Road, Suite 102. There is no fee. Whether involved in the day-to-day, hands-on care of an elderly relative or in long-distance emotional support, the group will help individuals find resources and information. To register, call Judith Weinberg, M.S.W., program coordinator, at 987-8100, 882-9317, 443-6260, or 215-493-8224.

Individuals who cannot see well enough to read regular print are invited to call the Talking Book Library, the New Jersey Library for the Blind and Handicapped, at 1-800-792-8322. The library, based in Trenton, supplies books on cassette tape and machines on which to play the tapes to people throughout the state. It also has thousands of large print books.

The American Association of University Women, Princeton chapter will feature Merrill Lynch financial consultant Marianna Goldberg at its next meeting, at 7:30 p.m., on October 14 The meeting will take place in the community meeting room at Stark & Stark, 993 Lenox Drive, Lawrenceville.

Ms. Goldberg, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania Wharton School with a degree in finance and math, will discuss financial planning for women, including asset allocation strategies, retirement planning and estate planning.

For more information, call 275-8030.

The Amateur Astronomers Association of Princeton will hold the second of its 1997-98 public lectures on Tuesday, October 14, at 8 p.m., in Peyton Hall at the University.

Dr. Max Tegmark, of the School of Natural Sciences, Institute for Advanced Study will speak on "Cosmology in the Next Millennium."

An eminent astrophysicist, Dr. Tegmark has conducted extensive research on data obtained from the COBE satellite experience relating to the cosmic microwave background.

These data have contributed to new determinations of the large-scale structure of the universe and to more accurate cosmological models.

All Astronomers Association lectures are open to the public. For further information, call program director Rex Parker, at 730-0670 or Director William Murray, at 298-1179.

Arlene Roland, financial advisor for Prudential Securities, Carnegie Center, will lead an investment seminar for the Women's College Club of Princeton, on October 20, at noon at the Hyatt Hotel, Alexander Road.

Ms. Roland, a certified advisor for the National Center for Women, received a degree in business administration from the College of New Jersey in 1975. She specializes in retirement research and has participated in a number of national forums on investing Reservations for the luncheon, which is free, are necessary by Friday, October 17. Call 1-800-221-1492 (or 1491); 520-6723; or 466-0152.

Detailed explanations of the full range of benefits available to disabled veterans and their families will be presented at an upcoming Disabled American Veterans (DAV) Veterans Information Seminar.

Like all services provided by the nonprofit DAV, there will be no charge for this informative seminar, which will be hosted by Joseph McNerney, Chapter No. 41. It will be presented from noon until 4 on October 19 at the Chapter Hall, 911 Arena Drive, Trenton.

William Tremayne, president of the HealthCare Institute of New Jersey, will speak at the next general membership luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce of the Princeton Area, on October 9. His topic will be the new association of 13 leading pharmaceutical and related health-care companies, which Governor Christine Whitman launched in May.

The meeting will take place at The Forrestal Hotel, 100 College Road East, beginning with a reception at 11:30, followed by the buffet luncheon and Mr. Tremayne's presentation.

Cost for Chamber of Commerce members is $25; others will be charged $28. Reservations may be made by calling the Chamber office, at 520-1776.

The Princeton Recorder Society will meet on Tuesday, October 14, at the Kingston Presbyterian Church, Main Street, Kingston. Players assemble at 7:45, to begin at 8 p.m.

The Society, with more than 70 members, meets monthly on the second Tuesday, September through May. Each meeting is led by a different conductor; and members play a variety of music, from early to modern.

A chapter of the American Recorder Society, the Princeton group runs an annual workshop and a program of mini-courses; it has been able to provide scholarships to members for musical workshops outside the area and has taught neighborhood children about music through the recorder.

Tom Zajac, a faculty member at the Mannes School of Music, will conduct the meeting. He is expected to present a selection of 16th and 17th century music from Latin America.

For more information about the meeting or the society, call chapter President Kiyomi Camp, at 908-874-3672.

Princeton Offense Comes Alive for One Half, Defense Solid in 21-7 Victory over Holy Cross

GOING FOR TWO AND MAKING IT: Sophomore wide receiver Philip Wendler catches a pass from Harry Nakielny in the second quarter to complete a two-point conversion attempt. The Tigers took a 14-7 lead at the time.

After finishing its first two games in nail biting-fashion, Princeton football decided to ease the pressure a bit Saturday against Holy Cross, scoring all its points in the first half en route to a 21-7 victory over its Patriot league foe.

In the first half, the Tigers demonstrated the offense they are capable of generating, scoring four times, including its first touchdown in 113 minutes, to win over the Crusaders (2-3) in front of 8,542 fans at Fitton Field in Worcester, Mass.

The win improved Princeton's overall record to 2-1 (0-1 Ivy League), giving the team back-to-back wins for the first time since 1995. The Tigers never rose above the .500 mark last season.

The change most evident for the Orange and Black was its newfound ability to reach the end zone. More specifically, senior quarterback Harry Nakielny found his stride in the first half, completing 9-of-14 for 119 yards and a touchdown. Looking much more comfortable this week — and facing less of a rush — Nakielny found the open receivers and delivered the ball on target. He tailed off in the second half — as did the entire team, finishing with 176 yards, but the first half was a glimpse of the Nakielny of old, the one who was the highest-rated passer in the Ivy League in 1995.

"He looked much sharper," head coach Steve Tosches said of Nakielny. "Still, there were more plays, more throws he could make."

Blocking is Better

Part of the improvement came from the fact that Nakielny was well-protected this week. The offensive line did not allow a sack, and Nakielny had plenty of time to throw. Against Fordham, Nakielny was constantly being rushed, making it hard to get a rhythm going.

"The offensive line is starting to be together, get some cohesiveness," Tosches said.

After its positive first half, Princeton stalled after the intermission, moving the ball only a little over 100 yards in the second half.

"I liked how we played offensively in the first half," Tosches said. "Then we kind of reverted back to the performance of the first two weeks. You know, opportunities are there, chances are there. I want to see us follow it up. I want to see a good second half."

The Princeton defense played hard the entire game and was stellar for the third game in a row, limiting the Crusader running game to minus four yards rushing on the day. Against the more potent Holy Cross passing game, the Tigers did not fare quite so well, but did keep the Crusaders to 195 yards by taking away their short passing game.

Princeton also collected five sacks, with senior defensive end Griff King leading the way with a pair. Senior linebacker Tim Greene led the defensive line with 10 tackles and three tackles for losses. He also had a sack. Senior linebacker Jamie Toddings and senior defensive tackle Mark Whaling each had a sack as well.

"The better a pass rush you can get with your front four people," Tosches said, "the less you have to blitz, the less you have to be in man-to-man, the more you can play coverages."

Fittizzi Named MVP

But on Holy Cross's Homecoming day, the game MVP was junior cornerback Rocky Fittizzi. Fittizzi took home the Crusader class of 1952 Johnny Turco Memorial Award for his blocked punt in the second quarter that set up the Tigers' second touchdown.

Special teams was again key for the Tigers, setting up 14 points. The Crusaders featured a unique punt where the punter rolled out right before kicking in an attempt to keep the ball away from the Tiger defenders. However, the plan failed twice. In the second quarter, Joe Repshis took the snap and rolled out to kick. His kick was so low it hit a Princeton player in the back, resulting in a nine-yard punt. Fittizzi blocked the next Holy Cross roll-out punt.

"They were rolling out punts," Fittizzi said. "We knew their intentions, snuck inside — the whole SWAT team was on top of it."

"It's designed to be kicked, not blocked," Holy Cross head coach Dan Allen said with a wry smile.

Besides the regulars' contribution to the winning effort, others stepped up as well. Two players made significant first catches.

Brown* over Princeton . Bruins offense a little too high power for Tigers' defense.

Bucknell over Yale*. Bison beat Penn, then won at Cambridge against Harvard, shouldn't have any trouble in New Haven against Bulldogs.

Dartmouth over Fordham*. Big Green now with longest win streak in the nation, 20 games, should lead Rams to the slaughter.

Columbia* over Holy Cross. After whipping by Lafayette, Lions should be able to rebound against Patriot League's weakest team, despite losing quarterback Bobby Thomason to injury.

Cornell* over Harvard. Big Red should continue its hex over Crimson, which hasn't beaten Cornell since 1983.

Penn over Lehigh*. Quakers can even their season's record against another weak Patriot eleven.

Last Week: 4-2; Overall: 14-4

his first pass of the season to set up Princeton's first touchdown drive. From the Crusader 39-yard line, Nakielny fired a long bomb downfield to Glotzbach, who had his defender beat. Glotzbach bobbled the ball first, then held onto it before being taken down at the Holy Cross six for a 42-yard catch.

Also making his first catch of the season — and of his Princeton career — was junior wide receiver Drew Faulkner. In the second quarter with Princeton up 14-7, Nakielny lofted a beautiful pass to the right corner of the end zone, and Faulkner made the 12-yard reception for the touchdown.

Ground Game Slows

While the passing attack was good for the first half, the running game was not nearly as dominant as it was last week. Sophomore tailback Gerry Giurato, who rushed for 191 yards against Fordham, totaled just 52 on 22 carries. Sophomore tailback Damian Taylor led the team on the ground with 64 yards on 18 carries. But Princeton was able to run the ball well enough to take a lot of time off the clock in the second half.

The beginning of the game was very different than the end. The Tigers came out charging from the onset, scoring on their first drive of game. Junior kicker Alex Sierk nailed a 31-yard field goal for the early Tiger lead, but it looked like Princeton would again have trouble finding the end zone.

And it looked like the game might be a high-scoring one when Giurato fumbled on the Tigers' next possession at the Princeton 17-yard line. Holy Cross scored 10 seconds later for a 7-3 lead with seven minutes, 10 seconds left to play in the first quarter.

Luckily for the Tigers, senior Damani Leech had a productive day returning punts and kickoffs. He returned a punt 43 yards — almost breaking away from the field — to the Crusader 37-yard line.

Sierk then knocked in another field goal on the drive, bringing the Tigers within one, 7-6. Sierk is a perfect 6-for-6 on the season for field goals, and 2-for-2 on extra points.

After the dismal nine-yard punt by Holy Cross, the Tigers, in their next drive, took over at the Crusader 48. The Nakielny-Glotzbach connection moved Princeton down the field quickly, and on second-and-goal, Nakielny faked a hand-off, stepped left and pitched the ball to Taylor who was wide open on the left side. Taylor ran untouched into the end zone for the score.

With the momentum definitely swinging towards the Tigers, Tosches called for a two-point conversion attempt. Nakielny got off a quick, low pass to junior wideout Philip Wendler who was just sitting in the end zone, and Princeton had the 14-7 lead it would not relinquish.

Sloppy and Scoreless

The 21 first half points were key, because the second half got slower, sloppier and eventually wound up scoreless. Holy Cross had several good scoring drives ended by turnovers. It fumbled three times — losing the ball twice — and was intercepted, but Princeton's inept offense could not capitalize on these mistakes.

In the fourth quarter, the Crusaders moved the ball 45 yards down field to the Princeton 35 when Holy Cross quarterback Dan Boland was flushed from the pocket and tackled on the run, fumbling the ball. Senior defensive tackle Mark Whaling recovered the ball to stop the drive. Princeton gave the ball right back to its opponent, going three-and-out. The Crusaders also had several ill-timed penalties, including one with 13 minutes left in the game when Boland completed a pass to the Princeton 11-yard line that was called back for ineligible player downfield.

Senior strong safety Tom Ludwig intercepted Boland's very next pass, making a catch by the sidelines between two other players, then falling out of bounds. That basically ended the Crusaders' hopes and the Tigers had their first victory ever in Worcester.

Saturday's Game: Princeton at Brown

1 p.m. Saturday at Providence, R.I. Broadcast live by WHWH (1350 AM) and WPRB (103.3 FM). Delayed tape on C-TEC 9 Sunday morning and 8:30 Tuesday evening.

Series history: Princeton leads 44-19, last winning in Providence, 21-19, in 1995. Brown's 27-23 triumph in Palmer Stadium last year was its first over the Tigers in nine years.

Brown wasn't high up in most preseason Ivy polls, but along came a hotshot quarterback, sophomore James Perry, and suddenly the Bruins are 3-0, off to their best start in a decade. With Perry at the controls, Brown is averaging 44 points a game, beating Yale 52-14, Lafayette 35-27 and Fordham, 45-14. The 45 against the Rams in the Bronx came just a week after Tigers managed just three field goals.

The question for this week is whether Tiger defense can step up to the challenge and shut down Bruins' attack. Tigers have allowed just 28 points in three games, but the first was played in a driving rain, and the second two were against weak teams. This game, plus the two that follow against Colgate and Harvard, will answer just how good the defense is.

There's also a question about the offense: will it ever play four quarters of solid football. It scored 21 points in two periods last Saturday, and then took a sabbatical. Coach Steve Tosches is optimistic this is the week the Tigers put it all together. They will need a big week to stay in contention. Brown may not reach its scoring average this weekend, but it will prevail, 27-13.

Around the league, Dartmouth passed another big test on the road to a second consecutive title, squeezing by Cornell. Big Red has played well in two losses.

Harvard got ahead of visiting Bucknell by 20-7 in the first quarter, and then fell apart, leaving one to wonder how much of a challenge it will be to Dartmouth when the two meet November 1 in Hanover. The Big Green also gets to play Brown at home; its remaining league road games are against Yale and Columbia.

The Lions, who were walloped by winless Lafayette, have now lost quarterback Bobby Thomason out with a possible fractured collarbone for an indefinite period. Their best running back, Jason Bivens, is already on the shelf. Penn quarterback Matt Rader became the first Quaker to pass for more than 250 yards in 12 seasons in win over Towson. Kudos to Yale for its first win of the season, unfortunately it won't play a team as woeful as winless Valparaiso again.

PU Soccer 3-3-1 After Halupka Goal In Win Over Adelphi

It was just a matter of time until the Princeton soccer team recovered its ability to score goals. Unfortunately for visiting Adelphi, the Tigers ended a string of five consecutive scoreless halves with a three-goal explosion that nullified the visitors' 2-0 halftime lead.

"We did a really good job of getting back into it," said PU coach Jim Barlow, whose squad had been shut out 2-0 by Rider University only three days before.

The players were "dejected and frustrated" at the hall, Barlow reported, and it was up to some second-half substitutes to jump start the team.

"It started out with a few guys really giving us a spark off the bench," said Barlow, mentioning Justin Kerr, Brien Wassner, and Corey Rice. "They really worked hard, beating them to the ball and making plays."

Both teams failed to convert on excellent scoring chances early in the second half, and it wasn't until 21:12 had elapsed that Princeton finally found the net. Justin Kerr refused to give up on a ball that the Adelphi goalie appeared to have control of. He managed to poke it loose, and the goalie tripped him in the box. Jamie Adams scored on the ensuing penalty kick.

The Tigers tied the score just minutes later when Hayden Jones took the ball up the sideline and beat two men before sending a perfect cross to Kerr, who headed it in for the 2-2 tie.

The score remained tied until the final minute of play. Goalkeeper Ethan Bing sent a long punt upfield to Jones, who teamed up with Rice in a 2-on-2 against a pair of defenders. As they approached the goal, Halupka made a run through the middle and took a perfect pass from Jones to score the game winner with 25 seconds on the clock.

On Wednesday at 7:30 p.m., Princeton plays its final home game, against Fairleigh Dickinson-Teaneck, before embarking on a five-game road stretch.

POWER OFF BENCH: Princeton senior Corey Rice, right, was one of the key players who came off the bench to give Princeton a boost in the Tigers' stirring 3-2 come-from-behind victory over Adelphi on Saturday.

FDU is currently 6-4-1, having lost to powerful Seton Hall in overtime.

On Saturday, it is back to the Ivy wars for Princeton, as they travel to Dartmouth for a 3:30 p.m. game. "Dartmouth is doing great right now," said Barlow. "This will be a real test for our guys."

Hun Splits Two Games Against Area Rivals

The Raider boys' soccer team topped area prep foe Princeton Day School 5-0 a week ago Tuesday, but when another local squad came visiting, the result was different, as PHS stopped Hun 3-0.

The 1-1 week left the Raiders with a 2-6 record. Games against Pingry, on Saturday, and Trenton, on Tuesday, were cancelled, leaving the Raiders to wait until Thursday for their next contest, a 4 p.m. away match at Lawrenceville.

In the Princeton Day game, Russell Jaffe got the scoring started for Hun 15 minutes into the first half. PDS had stayed with the Raiders up to that point, but Jaffe made a nice individual effort to beat several men and tuck the ball into the net.

Minutes later, Jaffe took a cross from Nick Rounds about eight yards from the Hun goal, and blasted another shot past the keeper. For Hun, the floodgates had opened. Five minutes after the second goal, T.J. Bayless punched the ball into the net on a breakaway. Charlie Haines made it 4-0 in the first half on an assist from Sean Davies.

The Raiders would add a fifth goal in the second half, off the foot of Jeffrey Beim, while keeping PDS off the board entirely. Topher Lawton had five saves for Hun, and Dan Weinstein had one.

Different Story

Things weren't quite so simple against Princeton High School later in the week. The Tigers went ahead 1-0 in the first half, and scored twice more in the second, all without allowing Hun a single shot on goal.

Lawton got credit for two saves on nine PHS shots.

Following the Lawrenceville game on Thursday, the Raiders will not play again until October 16, when they meet the Gray Bees of St. Benedict's, usually one of the best teams, prep or public, in the state.

Hun Wins Two Straight On Eve of Tournament

The Raider tennis team went into Monday's opening day of the Mercer County Tournament on a very high note, having won two straight matches by 5-0 scores.

Hun stopped Rutgers Prep a week ago Tuesday, without losing a set. At first singles, Laura Meisel won 6-2, 6-1, while Katherine Browne took her second singles match 6-2, 6-1. Mackenzie Merritt was a 6-2, 6-3 winner at thirds.

At first singles, Jennie Breo and Meghan Merritt made short work of their opponents in a 6-0, 6-0 win, and Brooke Pavon and Gaby Jimenez won 6-4, 6-1 at seconds.

The Raiders had an even easier time against Morristown-Beard on Friday. Meisel won her match 6-0, 6-0. Browne won 6-2, 6-0, and Mackenzie Merritt won 6-1, 6-1.

Breo and Meghan Merritt won 6-0, 6-0, and Pavon and Jimenez won by default.

Following the second round of the MCT on Wednesday, the Raiders will host Oak Knoll at 4 p.m. on Thursday, and Princeton High at 3:45 on Monday.

Tiger Hockey Gaining Respect in ECAC, But Losing a Key Defenseman to Pros

There's good news and bad news for the Princeton hockey team, and unfortunately for the Tigers, the bad news is a fact, and the good news is just a prediction. Still in all, it should be another competitive winter for coach Don Cahoon's skaters.

Taking the bad news first, two players expected back from last year's squad that reached the ECAC semifinals and matched a school record for wins in a season with 18, will be missing. Highly touted defenseman Dominique Auger, whose freshman year was good enough to get him named to the ECAC All-Rookie team, has decided to play for the Quebec Remparts of the Quebec Major Junior Hockey League this season.

After deferring his coming to Princeton for one year, Auger had a sparkling first season, leading all Tiger defensemen with 23 points, including seven goals. J.P. Acosta, the younger brother of returning senior, Michael Acosta, has departed for academic reasons. He had five points last year, and could return after a semester or year off.

The good news is that Old Nassau has certainly gained the respect of the other coaches in the league. After years of being picked to finish anywhere from eighth to last in the ECAC preseason poll, the Tigers have climbed all the way to fourth.

Topping the poll is RPI with 137 points; the Engineers also are ranked fifth in the country. Clarkson came in second with 132 points, followed by Cornell in third, 115. Princeton garnered 100 points, ahead of such traditional hockey powers as Harvard, 92; Colgate, 80; Vermont, 71 and St. Lawrence, 67. Dartmouth, 47; Yale, 37 and Union, 30 finished 10th through 12th.

Another bonus for the Tigers is a new format for the league playoffs next March. Previously only the top four teams advanced to the semifinals in Lake Placid. Starting in 1998, a fifth team will play the lowest ranking of the other four to determine the semifinal pairings.

Cahoon, of course, while having to deal with the loss of a player of Auger's calibre, dismisses the poll results entirely.

"It didn't matter when they said we were 10th (in 1996); it doesn't matter when they say we're fourth. Don't tell me, show me."

The season, which seems to open earlier every year, will begin with an exhibition game against Elmira in Baker Rink in just a little over two weeks, Friday, October 24. The Tigers start to play for keeps on October 31 and November 1 with a pair of games at Omaha-Nebraska. They get down to serious business the following weekend when St. Lawrence and Clarkson come to town to open the ECAC campaign.

Hard Work Pays Off For Tartan Field Hockey

After a slow start to the season, the Stuart Country Day School Varsity Field Hockey team is now 2-3 in regular season play with victories over Kent Place and Notre Dame.

The team showed steady improvement in its games against PDS (0-1) and Lawrenceville (0-2), with co-captain and goalkeeper Sarah Gomez making 12 and 17 saves respectively.

Even though we're a young team," Gomez said, "we make up for it on the field — each player looks to her teammates to get the job done. Everyone works together."

In the win over Kent Place, goals were scored by junior Morgan Harris (with an assist from sophomore Mia Tinari) and sophomore Amanda Muller. Gomez made 18 saves in the 2-1 contest.

Against Notre Dame on September 30, the winning and only goal of the game was scored by co-captain Alicia Fruscione, playing in her first game since a knee injury sidelined her last spring.

"We keep improving every game. We're being very positive and using every opportunity. We're learning from all our experiences and taking it one game at a time," said Fruscione.

The Tartans earned a place in the Mercer County Tournament this past weekend, where they won their first game 2-0 over Ewing. Both goals were scored by sophomore Allison Gratton with assists from freshman Sarah Driscoll and Muller.

"We're been working really hard together and we're coming together as a team — it's starting to pay off," said Harris.

The Tartans will play Hightstown on Wednesday in the second round of the Mercer County Tournament.

A Tie, a Win, a Loss For Raider Field Hockey

The Hun field hockey team only scored one goal this week, but it was enough to give the Raiders a 1-1-1 record over three games.

Hun played Kent Place to a 0-0 tie a week ago Tuesday, with goalkeeper Allison Duggan making six saves to preserve the tie for her squad. The Raiders were limited to three shots in the contest.

Hun was able to find the back of the cage once in the first half of Friday's game against the George School, and it was all the Raiders would need to best the 1-4-1 visitors. Stephanie Graev got the unassisted tally, and Duggan split time with senior Meris Burton, who is returning from a shoulder injury, to earn the shutout.

Hun met Steinert in the opening round of the Mercer County Tournament on Saturday, and was knocked out by a 2-0 score. Burton made eight saves on the day, but couldn't stop everything. The Spartan goalie, on the other hand, did. The Raiders outshot Steinert 11-10, but never found a way to score.

Hun played Lawrenceville on Tuesday, too late for this issue. On Friday, the Raiders visit Lawrence for a 3:30 game.

PDS Field Hockey Has Tough Week, Two OT Defeats

The Princeton Day field hockey team can be forgiven if the Panthers think all the breaks are going against them.

Last week they played four overtime periods in two games, and lost a pair of one-goal decisions. The first to Lawrenceville last Friday came after three overtime periods, with the Big Red finally pulling out a 2-1 triumph. Twenty-four hours later, Blair snuck by the Blue and White, 1-0, in a contest that needed one overtime to decide the outcome.

Lawrenceville, S-1-1, got a goal from Laura Stevens in the first half, and the Panthers matched that in the second when junior Joanna Woodruff tallied. The score stayed that way through the rest of the second half, and two overtime periods. New National Federation rules mandate a third overtime this year, and it worked for Lawrenceville's benefit.

Just 3:04 into the third extra session Lawson McNeil took command. Taking the ball from almost one end of the field to the other she put the ball by PDS goalie Margo Smith to end the game. Smith had been solid in goal all afternoon, kicking out 27 of 29 shots by the Big Red. PDS managed just six. If there is good news for the Panthers, it comes from the fact that they lost to Lawrenceville last year in the regular season, but came back to beat them when it counted most in the Prep A Tournament.

There certainly wasn't any good news the next day. Blair and coach Jill Thomas' team played to a scoreless tie in regulation, each getting off about a dozen shots. The visitors won the game 2:19 into the first overtime on a goal by Emily DuPont.

This week, PDS was scheduled to play Delaware Valley High School on Tuesday, and begin play in the Mercer County Tournament on Wednesday.

PDS Girls Soccer 5-0, Tough Contests Ahead

The Princeton Day girls soccer team outscored two opponents by the combined score of 13-2 last week, running its record to 5-0 in the process. But more difficult times lie ahead, with games against two Prep A powers, Lawrenceville and Peddie, scheduled for this week. The outcome of these will go a long way to determining the seeding for the post-season tournament next month.

Morristown-Beard was certainly no match for the Panthers a week ago Tuesday. With Golcher leading the way with a pair, the Blue and White took a 3-0 lead in the first half, and doubled that in the second. The visitors were outshot 18-2. Also scoring for PDS were Stephanie Horowitz, Kari Zarzecki, Jessica Collins, and freshman Lauren Sanders, who notched the first goal of her varsity career.

And four days later, Blair wasn't either. This contest was decided by halftime, with the Blue and White holding a 4-0 lead. Blair showed a little life in the second half scoring twice, but the Panthers added three more for a 7-2 final.

The usual suspects piled up most of the points. Golcher and Collins each tallied twice, Amanda Suomi notched a goal and two assists and Anne Jamieson had one goal and one assist. Kari Zarzecki provided the other goal for PDS. Brittany Golcher and Brittany Bagley each were credited with an assist.

PDS Soccer Team Defeats Blair, Loss Streak Over

The week started badly with a one-sided loss, got better with a decent game, albeit another defeat, and ended gloriously, as the Princeton Day soccer team broke a seven-game losing streak. The Blue and White is now 2-7.

The Panthers began the tough week against Hun, and were shutout 5-0. A slow start in the first period cost PDS dearly; the Raiders pumped in four goals. Things evened up in the second half, but by then the damage had been done. Outshot 18 to eight, Princeton Day came close to scoring a couple of times, but that was it.

"We didn't start playing until the second half," coach Matt Levinson said. "We were coming off a great game vs. Trenton that went into overtime, but Hun came out with more intensity. It's youth and inexperience, and until we learn what it takes at the start of the game, we're going to be up and down."

Next up was Lawrenceville last Friday, and although this contest also fell into the loss column, there was progress against a solid opponent. For one thing Levinson's team started strong right away. The Panthers actually led this one 2-1 on tri-captain Ted Shoaf's goal early in the second half, assisted by junior Peter Seelig. Unfortunately, the Big Red rallied to tally three times after that while holding PDS scoreless. Seelig had gotten the Blue and White's first half goal, matching one by the visitors.

Finally, on Saturday, everything came together for coach Matt Levinson's team, which posted a 5-1 triumph over Blair. The Panthers started slowly leading just 1-0 against the 1-5 visitors at the end of the first half. Alex Mathews provided that margin when he scored off a pass by Mark Treilman. After the intermission, PDS poured it on with four players scoring.

Tri-captain Cabral Brooks and Michael Bodel scored, both assisted by Shoaf. Francesco Rusciano got the fourth, assisted by Seelig, and Rich Dool finished it off, scoring off a pass by Ben Petrick. PDS outshot Blair by a margin of 21-8, and somewhere in the second half goalie Lawrence Miller lost his shutout, but that didn't matter.

Two games are on tap for this week, the first against Wardlaw-Hartridge, the second against Peddie.

Winning Streak Now 4 For PHS Field Hockey

The PHS field hockey team won its fourth straight game on Monday afternoon, beating Steinert 5-2. In doing so, the Tigers improved their record to 5-2, and moved even closer to the goal they set themselves at the beginning of the season: qualifying for the state tournament.

Coach Joyce Jones's squad was locked in a 2-2 battle with the Spartans at the half, but managed to come out and dominate the second half of the contest, scoring three unanswered goals to win going away.

Katya Ermolaev scored twice for PHS, while Amanda Willard, Laura Feiveson, and Shelley Hughes each scored once. Willard also had three assists on the day.

In the cage, goalkeeper Sophie Skover came up big with 15 saves.

The Tigers got a big morale boost on Saturday, when they bested Hamilton 2-0 in the opening round of the Mercer County Tournament. Ermolaev and Willard both tallied in the first half, and it was all the Tigers would need.

The defense limited Hamilton to four shots, and Skover stopped them all for her third shutout in a row, and her fourth this season. The victory sets up a Wednesday afternoon meeting with Princeton Day School in the quarterfinal round.

PHS stopped Ewing 3-0 a week ago Tuesday, on two goals by Hughes and a third by Shelly Drimmer. Skover blanked the Blue Devils with eight saves.

The Wednesday afternoon contest against PDS is scheduled for 4:15 p.m. at the Panthers' home field.

PHS Football Stopped Within Sight Of Victory Over ND

They could see the goal line just ahead, but the clock ticked on, oblivious, and left the Tiger football team just yards short of victory Friday night.

"We lost a heartbreaker," said Princeton High coach Dave Dudeck of his squad's 20-14 loss to his own alma mater, Notre Dame. Princeton watched the clock run out on a 90-yard penalty-plagued drive in the fourth quarter, and on a night when they played well enough to win, the Tigers dragged themselves home with an 0-3 record.

The many positive features of the contest were lost on the Tigers, at least in the immediate aftermath of the loss. John Thorpe ran for 141 yards on 23 carries. Ott Phanthavong passed for 115 yards. But none of that mattered on the long, quiet bus ride home.

"Only a win cures this," said Dudeck. "And they are determined to get that win."

Princeton fell into a 7-0 hole with five minutes remaining in the first quarter, when the Irish scored on a 29-yard run and booted the extra point. The Tigers dug themselves out quickly, though. On six plays, PHS crossed the 50-yard line and got itself in position at the Irish 37. On the seventh play of the drive, Phanthavong found a wide open Jay Curtis in the end zone for the touchdown. Jeff Mapps drilled the PAT to tie the score.

The Irish dominated the second quarter of play. An interception gave Notre Dame good field position early in the quarter, and QB Neal Lynch went over from the one-yard line for the go-ahead TD. The ensuing PAT was good, making the score 14-7.

Notre Dame drove 82 yards on its next possession, and ending it in much the same fashion, with Lynch going over from the one. A two-point conversion attempt failed, leaving the score 20-7 at the half.

Princeton might have folded up in the second half. The Tigers don't have a history of playing Notre Dame close, and they might have just decided to let that negative history repeat itself. But they didn't.

PHS came out in the third quarter and stopped the Notre Dame offense from mounting serious new threats. The offense, sparked by Thorpe's running, began to look threatening.

In the middle of the third quarter, the Tigers took the ball on their own 31-yard line and engineered a 69-yard scoring drive. The 10-play series ended with Phanthavong making an improbable five-yard scramble on a broken fourth-down play.

"I still don't know how he got in there," said Dudeck. "It looked like he was going to get sacked, and he scrambled, and somehow he wiggled into the end zone."

The Tigers were able to hold Notre Dame scoreless through the remainder of the game, and with 3:58 remaining, they took the ball on their own five-yard line with the chance to win the game.

Princeton mounted a drive that carried it down to the Notre Dame 15-yard line with only seconds remaining. Phanthavong dropped back to pass and found Curtis on a post route at the five. The tall PHS senior was inside the coverage, and as he went up to grab the pass, a Notre Dame defender appeared to grab him by the shirt and pull him back.

An official threw a flag on the play, and with virtually everyone in attendance expecting the call to go against Notre Dame, called offensive pass interference on Curtis. Curtis leapt up in protest, and turned his back to the official. Still upset over the call, he threw his arms out in protest, and one of his hands made contact with the official.

The contact caused the official to throw another flag, ejecting Curtis from the game, and pushing Princeton back to the 30-yard line. The play effectively killed the PHS drive (and will cost the Tigers the services of Curtis this week, as the ejection carries with it a single-game suspension).

PHS Second, Hun Fourth after Two Rounds Of Mercer County Tennis Tournament Play

It should come as no surprise to anyone who has been paying attention that West Windsor-Plainsboro is currently at the top of the standings in the Mercer County Tennis Tournament with a perfect score of 20 points. The Pirates, one of the most dominating public school programs in the state, won all 10 of their matches in the opening two rounds on Monday, and despite competition from Princeton High and Notre Dame, seem poised to repeat as champions when play resumes Wednesday at 12:30 p.m.

PHS fared almost as well as WW-P, earning 18 points, and the Hun School edged into fourth place with 12 points. Stuart Country Day School tied for fifth with 10 points, while Princeton Day School placed seventh in the field of 13, with eight points.

In first singles play, Princeton High's Lea Crusey won her opening match 6-0, 6-0, only to meet third-seed Laura Maisel of Hun in the second round and fall 6-1, 6-2. Maisel had also won her opening round match 6-0, 6-0.

Princeton Day School's Lauren Kostinas won her opening match 6-1, 6-1, but was eliminated by Stuart's Diya Uberoi 6-1, 6-1 in the quarterfinal. Uberoi won her opening match 6-1, 6-2.

In second singles action, Princeton High's Meredith Dossin met Stuart's Justyna Piasecka and came away with a 6-1, 6-1 win. Dossin advanced to the semifinal with a win over Princeton Day's Keri Bernstein, 6-1, 6-1 in the quarters. Bernstein had advanced with a 6-2, 6-1 first round win. Hun's Katherine Browne was eliminated 7-6 (7-2), 6-3 in the first round.

Dossin's play was "outstanding," according to PHS coach Bill Humes. "Meredith won two good matches," he said.

Princeton's third singles player, Emily Wood, advanced to the semifinals by winning her opening match 6-2, 6-1, and cruising through her quarterfinal match 6-0, 6-0. Hun's Mackenzie Merritt won 6-1, 6-1 in the first round, but was beaten by the No. 4 seed 7-5, 6-3 in the quarters. Princeton Day's Jenn Gladden lost 6-1, 6-4 in the opening round to Stuart's Nellie Farrell. Farrell, however, lost in the quarters 6-2, 6-0.

Doubles Play

Princeton High's Mara Schindelman and Alexis Distler advanced to the first singles semifinals with a 6-1, 6-0 opening round win, and a 6-1, 6-1 win in the quarters. Jennie Breo and Meghan Merritt, of Hun, won 6-0, 6-2 in the opening round and 6-1, 6-1 in the quarters to advance.

Princeton Day School's Janine Winant and Andrea Koerte lost in the opening round 6-3, 6-2 to the top-seeded team. Anne-Sybil Bragadir and Morgan Lloyd, of Stuart, advanced to the semifinals with an opening round 7-5, 7-6 (7-4) win and a quarterfinal win that was a much easier 6-0, 6-0.

In second doubles, Princeton's Laura Mos and Antonia Chen advanced with wins of 6-2, 6-0 and 6-2, 6-0, in the opening round and quarterfinals, respectively. Hun's Brooke Pavon and Gaby Jimenez opened with a 6-1, 6-1 win, and advanced to the semis with a 7-6 (7-5), 6-4 victory in the quarterfinals.

Princeton Day's Marin Blitzer and Tyler Bracken won 6-0, 6-0 in the opener and 6-4, 6-1 in the quarterfinal. Stuart's Nathalie Bragadir and Jamie Horn were eliminated 6-0, 6-0 in the first round.

Phanthavong made it interesting, hooking up with junior tight end Malcolm Glover for a completion inside the 10, but the clock ran out on the Tigers before they could reach the end zone.

Steinert Thursday

Because of the Yom Kippur holiday on Saturday, PHS has scheduled this week's contest against Steinert for Thursday afternoon at 3:30 p.m., at Steinert.

"Steinert is always a scrappy team," said Dudeck. "They usually out-size us up front. This year, I think we're pretty well matched against them."

The Spartans, 1-2 overall and 0-2 in CVC play, fell 14-7 to Hightstown on Friday. Princeton, says Dudeck, will need to establish its running game early, to open the Spartan backfield up to the pass.

Steinert's defense, however, may prove to be a tough nut to crack. Despite their 1-2 record, the Spartans are the second-ranked defensive team in the CVC, allowing 191 yards per game.

The Tigers might do well to attack the Spartans' largely untested defensive backfield. Opponents have only attempted 19 passes against Steinert so far this season, and although only eight have been completed (42%), they have gone for an average of more than 25 yards apiece.

An 0-3 start doesn't do much for morale, but Dudeck reports that his players are somehow bonding behind the common desire for a win. "The bond between them is becoming closer," he says.

And although there is pain, the Tigers know how to make it go away. Dudeck says: "The coaches and the kids aren't going to feel better until all their hard work pays off in a win."

Raiders Go Winless Over 3-Game Stretch

The Hun School girls' soccer team couldn't find a way to win this week, losing consecutive games to Kent Place (7-2) and Princeton High School (5-0) before ending a contest against the George School in a 0-0 deadlock.

Against Kent Place, Nina Tinari and Lauren Kwiatkowski scored goals for Hun, and goalkeeper Michelle Lisciandrello made 10 saves.

The PHS game was a lopsided affair, with the Tigers firing 22 shots at Lisciandrello, whose teammates only managed four. Lisciandrello's 14 saves weren't enough to hold back the tide.

Hun outshot the George School 20-10 on Friday, but couldn't punch the ball past the host squad's keeper. Lisciandrello, at the other end of the field, made 10 saves to earn the shutout.

Results from Hun's scheduled Monday afternoon game at Oak Knoll were not available at press time.

On Thursday, the Raiders host Pennington at 4 p.m.

PDS Football Now 1-2 After Loss to ANC 41-14

This was one of those defeats where, looking anywhere for a silver lining, you might say, well, we won the second half.

And indeed, Princeton Day did outscore Academy of New Church, 14-7, in the second half of Saturday's football game. Trouble was the visitors had already piled up a 34-0 lead in the first two quarters, and just might have been suffering from a lack of interest the rest of the way.

Another positive was the total yardage statistic: PDS actually outgained ANC, 305 to 253, but that was because the winners didn't have to go very far for at least half their touchdowns. They were helped immeasurably by errant PDS passes, three of which were intercepted in PDS territory in the first quarter alone. One was run back 50 yards for a touchdown. Academy of New Church led 21-0 at the end of one, and added a pair of touchdowns in the second.

The visitors got their sixth and last touchdown of the game in the third to lead 41-0, and were through for the day. With the outcome no longer in doubt, the PDS offense came to life. Running back John Dorazio provided some positive highlight film for the end of the season with a nifty 68-yard touchdown run in the third period. In the fourth quarterback Andy Doss hit end Pat Holmes with a 22-yard pass for six more points. Eric Sen kicked both extra points.

Next up is Wilmington Friends, which will visit Sunday for a contest beginning at 3.

HIGHLIGHT NUMBER TWO: Panther end John LaBosco leaped high above an ANC defender to bring down this pass from quarterback Andy Doss.

My Merrill Lynch Financial Consultant encourages me to ask questions.

— She's a very good listener.

Decisions regarding large sums of money can be a challenge. But if you're like most women, you approach financial decisions by marshalling the facts, comparison-shopping, asking questions.

And that's smart business.

Because, while a Merrill Lynch Financial Consultant can help you understand the markets, only you know your financial dreams, goals, and personal investment style. It takes both of us – working together – to develop a financial plan with specific strategies to help you realize those financial dreams.

That's why our Financial Consultants encourage you – and all our clients – to ask as many questions as necessary. Because sound financial planning is a dialogue, not a monologue.

Another Blue Monday • For PHS Boys' Soccer

Mondays have not been kind to the Princeton High soccer team this season. The Tigers are 8-2 so far, with both losses coming on the first day of the week. Notre Dame upset the Tigers 2-1 this Monday, a result the PHS coach Wayne Sutcliffe attributed in large part to his team's emotional letdown after a big win over West Windsor-Plainsboro last week.

"We weren't on, we weren't sharp," he said. "I think we were just emotionally spent from Friday. We really didn't play well today, and [Notre Dame] did."

Senior captain Demont Heard put the Tigers ahead in the first half with his second goal of the season, scoring on an assist from Noah Stout. But for Princeton, that was where the scoring stopped. The Tigers watched the Irish punch in a pair of unanswered goals in the second half to run away with the upset victory.

"I think they were taking advantage of our not pressuring the ball quickly enough," said Sutcliffe. "And when we got the ball, they were quick to pressure us. They won that game on desire."

If the Tigers were suffering an emotional letdown on Monday, it was due to Friday's big 2-1 win over WW-P, a squad Princeton hadn't beaten since 1990.

The Tigers had to come back from a 1-0 deficit, after the Pirates scored on a restart with 14:23 to play in the first half. A long throw-in deflected off a PHS defender, and WW-P's Ko Kosugi knocked it past goalkeeper Noah Scovronick for the 1-0 lead.

With just under three minutes remaining in the half, PHS got the chance to tie the score. Senior captain Estuardo Ramirez passed a ball up to sophomore forward Dixon Hayes, who beat one defender before blasting a shot that crashed into the crossbar. The ball came straight down and deflected off a defender's foot into the net for the tying goal.

"West Windsor put a lot of pressure on us in the beginning," said Sutcliffe, "and I thought we showed some nice composure. In the second half, we came out and were really pleased with what we did. The midfield played great, and the guys in the back just shut down West Windsor's offense."

PHS scored the winner on a free kick with 23:47 remaining in the game. Mark Wickens tapped the ball to Ramirez, who knocked it past the keeper for the winner.

Scovronick made four saves on the afternoon, in a win that guaranteed the Tigers a spot in the state tournament at the end of the season.

PHS trampled Hun on Wednesday, preventing the Raiders from taking a single shot on goal while cruising to a 3-0 win. Ted Somers, Hayes, and Ramirez each scored for PHS.

Princeton plays Trenton on Wednesday at home in a 3:45 p.m. start. The contest against the Tornadoes is just a warm-up for a vital CVC contest on Monday. The Tigers travel to Lawrence to meet the 5-2-2 Cardinals at 3:45 p.m.

PHS Falls to ND, WW-P In Girls' Soccer Play

The Princeton High girls' soccer team didn't have long to savor a 5-0 win over the Hun School last week. The Tigers jumped right into the thick of CVC competition and came away bruised from meetings with two of the conference's better teams. Undefeated West Windsor-Plainsboro beat PHS 3-0, and 6-2 Notre Dame won in a 2-0 shutout.

The pair of losses dropped the Tigers' record to 6-4 with a visit to Trenton scheduled for Wednesday at 3:45 p.m. and a home game against Lawrence set for 3:45 on Monday.

Against Hun, the Tigers took a 2-0 first-half lead on unassisted goals by Iiana Witten and Judy Harvey.

Munti Abdul-Karim hit Liza Walters with a pass two minutes into the second half, and Walters put it away for the third goal of the day. Minutes later, Walters returned the favor, setting up Abdul-Karim for the Tigers' fourth goal.

Karen Gallagher netted the final goal of the day on an unassisted play with just over 13 minutes remaining.

WW-P used an enormous advantage in shots on goal to wear down PHS keeper Tammy Wang on Friday. The Pirates peppered Wang with 27 shots, compared to Princeton's nine, and Wang's 14 saves, while impressive, just weren't enough.

Wang got another workout on Monday, as Notre Dame also managed 27 shots on goal. This time she came up with 22 saves, but her teammates were unable to find the net at the other end of the field, and the two shots that eluded her were enough to give the Irish a victory.

BALL CONTROL: Princeton High's Beth Schwendt moves the ball upfield, and Hun's Janet Carter applies pressure. The Tigers beat the Raiders 5-0 last week.

GRATEFULLY ACCEPTED: Princeton High School head athletic trainer Carlos Salazar shakes hands with Dr. Michael Palmer, the PHS football team physician, and a member of Princeton Orthopaedic and Rehabilitation Associates. Dr. Palmer's medical group donated the modified golf cart the two men are standing in front of, which PHS athletic trainers use to transport athletes, trainers, and equipment.

Hun Swats Hornets, Winning 19-8; Lawrenceville Next

The undefeated Hun School football team has a pair of outstanding running backs in senior Max Wright and post-graduate Kevin Reeves, and when one sees them run for 269 of Hun's 270 total yards rushing, as they did in Saturday's 19-8 win over Hackley, it's easy to understand why they get most of the attention.

The Raiders have another weapon, though, one that receives less acclaim at the end of the day. That would be the defense. In its three victories so far this season, Hun has limited its opponents to a total of 21 points — an average of seven points per contest.

On Saturday against Hackley, a team with a bag of tricks deeper than Felix the Cat's, the Raiders defense was true to form. Over three hard-fought quarters, Hun limited Hackley to just one touchdown, keeping the contest locked in an 8-8 tie until the offense could manufacture some points.

BACKYARD BATTLE: PHS and Hun met on the soccer field last week, with the Tigers running away with a lopsided 5-0 win. Here Princeton's Melissa Gordon, right, battles Hun's Tessa Montijo for the ball.

In the fourth quarter, the Raiders took the lead, and Hun's defense remained rock steady, holding off Hornet assaults until the final whistle blew.

"I thought our pass defense was excellent," said Hun coach Bill Long, citing players like Reeves, Wright, Luke Tozzi, Brendan Tierney, Xavier Goss, and Billy Quirk. "We had a number of sacks against them, and it wasn't because of the rush. It was because [Hackley's quarterback] didn't have anybody to throw to. We changed up coverages on them a lot."

When the Hornets did throw, they seldom threw long, which has been the team's trademark in the past. "It surprised me that they didn't throw deep more," said Long.

A large part of the defense's success was due to the offense's ability to control the ball. Hun ran 52 running plays to Reeves and Wright alone, and held the ball for longer spans than Hackley.

"We played very well and were able to control the ball," said Long. "They have such an explosive offense that we didn't want them to have their hands on it for very long."

The Raiders took an 8-0 lead in the second quarter, on a seven-yard run from Reeves and a two-point conversion run from Wright. On the day, Reeves gained 147 yards on 26 carries. Wright had 122 yards on 26 carries.

Hackley evened the score in the third quarter, on a 38-yard run and ensuing conversion. Hun gave up the ball on its next possession, but as the end of the quarter drew near, the Raiders planted the seeds for the go-ahead score.

Reeves intercepted a pass at the Hornet 31 and returned it to the 27. The Raiders battled their way down inside the Hackley five-yard line, but the drive was stopped short, and Brian Volz came on to kick a field goal for an 11-8 Hun lead.

The Raiders then reaped the benefit of another Hackley turnover. The receiver on the following kickoff fumbled the ball at the 25, and Hun's Bill King gathered it up to give the Raiders possession at the Hackley 21.

Four plays later, Wright drove across the goal line from 10 yards out to give Hun an added measure of security. King earned the two-point conversion on a pass from Walker, and it was 19-8.

Larries Next

Because of the Yom Kippur Holiday, the Raiders host Lawrenceville in an uncommon Friday afternoon game on October 10 at 3 p.m. The short week gives Hun even less time to prepare for a talented and physically imposing Lawrenceville squad.

"They're big, and they've played much better competition than we have this season," said Long.

Looking down the Raider schedule at Lawrenceville, Blair, Peddie, and Germantown Academy, Long sees change coming. "We were bigger than Hackley, but now we're getting into a stretch where the other teams are going to be bigger than we are."

Long will have four days to prepare his squad for the time-honored but nearly-forgotten single wing offense that Lawrenceville coach Ken Keuffel still runs. The task will be more difficult than usual, because only a handful of players on this year's team were on the varsity against Lawrenceville last season.

Paintings by Shari Zolla At Community College

"Blood Relations," a selection of figurative paintings by New York City artist Shari Zolla, will be on exhibit at The Gallery at Mercer County Community College, 1200 Old Trenton Road, beginning with an opening reception on Wednesday, October 8, from 5 to 7:30 p.m. The exhibit runs through Thursday, November 6.

This exhibition explores the connection between all humans — blood — particularly women. The potent color red, which fills each image and evokes a sense of fury, illustrates, Zolla's perception of the corrupt state of the world and the plight of a fragmented humanity as this century comes to a close. Provocative and dramatic, the paintings render a view of the feminist approach to society.

New York City artist Zolla is studio manager, printer and installation coordinator at the Nancy Spero/ Leon Golub Gallery. She is a 1994-95 recipient of a New Jersey State Council on the Arts fellowship, and her works have been on display in several states and in Hamburg, Germany. Zolla earned her Masters of Fine Arts from Rutgers University in 1994.

The Gallery is on the second floor of the Communications Center on the West Windsor campus. All exhibitions and opening receptions are free and open to the public. Gallery hours are Monday through Thursday, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., and Wednesday and Thursday evenings from 6 to 8 p.m. Free parking is available in the student lots.

Exhibits

The photographs of Leona M. Law will be on display at the Cameron Gallery at Soufflé, 14 Farber Road, from October 12 through November 29.

The exhibit, "Faces and Places," includes images of remote people and locations that Ms. Law photographed on trips to more than 50 countries during the past decade.

Ms. Law, who has a fine arts degree from Marywood University in Scranton, Pa., teaches art at the Timberlane Middle School in Pennington. She is a resident of Yardley.

An opening reception for the artist will be held on October 12, from 5 to 7, at the gallery. Farber Road is one block south of Princeton Marketfair, off Route 1.

For more information, call Soufflé at 987-2600, or Arianne, Kassof, curator, at 924-6805.

A one-day exhibition of hand-painted silk art by Lawrenceville residents Cecilia Sharma and Teresa Prashad will take place on October 11, from 10 to 7, in the Vienna Room of the Novotel Hotel, 100 Independence Way.

The two artists, who are sisters, are both professional designers. Born in India, they attempt to combine Asian and western designs in their work.

Silk painting is a method of applying dyes directly to fabric, creating delicate effects similar to those of watercolor painting. The technique was begun in France more than 25 years ago.

Princeton resident Sarah Gove Antin, Riverside Drive, will exhibit her monotypes at the Firehouse Gallery in Bordentown, starting on Friday, October 3. There will be an opening reception from 6 to 9.

Ms. Antin's prints, many of which refer to classical themes, are part of "Visions," an exhibition of abstract work by five women artists.

Hours at the gallery, located at 10 Walnut Street in Bordentown, are 11 to 4, Monday to Friday, and most Tuesday and Wednesday evenings until 9. The exhibition will remain until October 31.

"A Is for Art" is the new exhibit opening in The College of New Jersey's College Art Gallery on Wednesday, October 8.

It isn't your average art exhibit. The pieces in this collection were created, not by members of the TCNJ community, but by the pupils of art education student-teachers studying at the college.

The exhibition features the original works of students from area high schools, including Hopewell Valley Central High and West Windsor-Plainsboro High School.

The show's opening reception will be held on October 8, from 5-7 p.m. The exhibition will run through Wednesday, November 5 in the gallery located on the first floor of Holman Hall.

Gallery hours are Monday-Friday, noon to 3; Thursday, 7 to 9; and Sunday 1 to 3. The gallery will also be open from 9:30 to 1:30 on Saturday, October 18, for the college's annual "Family Fest" celebration.

Some of the best-known, most striking images by photographer Fred Stein will be on display at CG Gallery, Ltd., 10 Chambers Street, from October 24 through November 10.

Street scenes of Paris in the years just before the German occupation and of New York during and just after World War II, capture the vitality and pathos of these two world centers.

The photographer's portraits of intellectuals, artists, and statesmen reveal the unique character of the men and women who shaped the political and cultural events of the 20th century.

Fred Stein was born July 3, 1909 in Dresden, Germany. The son of a rabbi and a religion teacher, he was a brilliant student and became active in socialist and anti-Nazi movements as a teenager.

He attended Leipzig University and obtained a law degree in an impressively short time, but was denied admission to the German bar by the Nazi government "for racial and political reasons."

As the threat of fascism became increasingly more dangerous, Mr. Stein fled to Paris in 1933 with his new wife, Liselotte Salzburg, under the pretext of taking a honeymoon.

Unable to practice law in France, his adopted country, he made his photographic skill into a vocation. In 1941, just before the occupation of Paris, the photographer and his family again escaped the Nazis by emigrating to New York City, where he worked as a freelance photographer until his death in 1967 at the age of 58.

The photographs of Fred Stein were recently exhibited at the International Center of Photography in New York. He is represented in collections of the National Museum of Art, the National Portrait Gallery (Smithsonian), the Center of Photography.

The work of Hightstown artist Frank Rivera will be featured in a one-man show at the Mariboe Gallery at the Peddie School, from October 24 through November 21. An opening reception will take place Friday, October 24, from 7 to 9.

Mr. Rivera, a teacher of art and design at Mercer County Community College, exhibits his paintings at galleries throughout the tri-state area.

His small, meticulously-rendered works are surreal narratives, often presented in multiple panels that suspend chronology, gravity, and scale. The artist describes them as "anchored to events both real and imagined."

Mr. Rivera will present a slide lecture on Thursday, October 30, at 7:30 p.m., in which he will discuss the influences on his paintings and the evolution of his work.

For more information, call 490-7550.

Competition to Design Entrance to Artworks

Artworks, the nonprofit visual arts school of Princeton and Trenton, is sponsoring a design/build competition to create a new and distinctive entrance to the artworks facility in Trenton. Author of the winning entry will receive $1,000.

Expressions of intent to enter the contest must be received by October 10. A prospectus will be sent to all interested individuals. Final submissions are due by November 18.

For more information, call 394-9436 or Artnet@AOL.COM; information will be forwarded immediately.

KEEPSAKES II: This watercolor by Sondra Freckelton is one of the works in an exhibition opening at the Gallery at Bristol-Myers Squibb, on October 12. Entitled "Four Artists, Four Objects, Ten Years," the show features the individual approaches of four realist painters to the same subject matter.

PEOPLE in the News

Paul Muldoon, director of the Creative Writing Program at Princeton University, has won the 1997 Irish Literature Prize for Poetry sponsored by The Irish Times.

Mr. Muldoon won for his 1996 volume New Selected Poems 1968-1994 (Faber and Faber, London). The newspaper cited the manner in which the collection "highlights Muldoon's witty, personal voice and inventive use of language, which often draws on daily routine and the topical." The citation continued: "Muldoon's quizzical feel for his native Ulster is evident in poems possessing a strongly narrative, even anecdotal quality. This engaging and challenging volume includes many instances of adroitly intellectual wordplay and literary cross-references."

Mr. Muldoon won the 1995 T.S. Eliot Poetry Prize for The Annals of Chile. His published works also include Why Brownlee Left, Selected Poems 1968-83, Meeting the British and Madoc.

"I am absolutely thrilled by this prize, particularly since it is Irish," said Mr. Muldoon. "While I've had a number of honors in Britain and the United States, this is the first award I've had in my own country. It means a great deal to me."

The poet, a resident of Cherry Valley Road, was born in County Armagh in 1951. Faber and Faber published his first colelction of poems, New Weather, while he was still a student at Queen's University, Belfast, in 1973. After working for several years as a radio producer for BBC Northern Ireland, he taught writing in England. In 1987 he came to the United States and taught at Columbia, Berkeley, the University of Massachusetts at Amherst before joining the Princeton faculty in 1990. He became director of Princeton's Creative Writing program in 1993 and a full professor in the Council of the Humanities and in Creative Writing in 1995.

The prize carries a cash award of £5,000, or roughly $8,000. Prizes are also awarded in fiction and nonfiction categories. Former Irish President patrick Hillery will honor the authors at a ceremony in Dublin on November 20.

Paul Muldoon

Katryna Carter, daughter of Keith Carter and Penelope Edwards-Carter, John Street, is one of two members of the Stuart Country Day School class of 1998 who has been named a semifinalist in the 1997 National Achievement Program. Classmate Marteki Dodoo, Willingboro, was also named.

Ms. Carter received prizes for excellence in Spanish, in mathematics, and in science at the end of the 1996-97 academic year. She also received a commendation for leadership and service for serving as judiciary representative for her junior class.

Katyrna Carter

She received academic honors for the third trimester of 1996-97, and a red ribbon certificate for attaining a final grade point average of 3.5 or higher in five full-credit courses, with no final grade lower than a C.

Ms. Dodoo received a prize for excellence in French and a prize for excellence in religious studies.

The Achievement Program, conducted annually by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, is a privately-financed academic competition honoring outstanding black Americans.

REAL ESTATE AND YOU

By Tod Peyton

THE BEST TIME TO FIX YOUR HOME UP TO SELL

Many homeowners wait until they are ready to put their home on the market before painting, planting flowers, and making other improvements to their homes. After completing these improvements, they may wish that they had done all of this work on their homes sooner in order to enjoy the improvements.

Whether you have recently purchased a home or have been settled into your home for several years, you should consider going through your house as if you planned to sell it soon. Maximize your "curb appeal" now, so that you will reap the benefits every time you pull into your driveway. Plant those flowers and bulbs so you will have your fresh flowers on your own dining room table. Add new window treatments now. If your house needs a new kitchen, go ahead with the renovation to create a beautiful and functional kitchen. You will not only enhance your whole neighborhood, but you will enjoy the benefits and joys of living in a beautiful home.

Robert S. Pinals, M.D., Red Hill Road, chairman of the Department of Medicine at the Medical Center at Princeton since 1984, recently announced his retirement.

Dr. Pinals, a specialist in internal medicine and rheumatology (disorders of the joint, bones, and muscles), received his medical training in rheumatology at Massachusetts General Hospital. Prior to joining the Medical Center at Princeton, he was on the faculties of Tufts, SUNY-Syracuse, and the University of Tennessee.

He served, as well, as chief of the Rheumatology Division at both SUNY-Syracuse and the University of Tennessee.

Active in both professional and service organizations, Dr. Pinals served on the FDA Arthritis Advisory Committee, which he chaired from 1986 to 1989. From 1988 until 1995, he was a member of the American Board of Internal Medicine. He is the author of 140 medical journal articles and book chapters.

Dr. Pinals has also served as a professor at UMDNJ-Robert Wood Johnson Medical School, where he is vice chair of the Department of Medicine.

Princeton resident Christine Cartwright, a litigation associate with the Princeton firm of Drinker, Biddle & Reauth, has been appointed chair of the New Jersey State Bar Association's Young Lawyers Division.

The division organizes and promotes activities, including legal education seminars, for new practitioners of the law.

Ms. Cartwright is a member of a number of professional associations, including the Princeton Bar Association, the Mercer County Bar Association, the Mercer County Women Lawyers Caucus, and the American Bar Association's Young Lawyers Division. She also serves as an arbitrator on the New Jersey District Fee Arbitration Committee.

A graduate of Rutgers College, she received her law degree from Rutgers School of Law. She is admitted to practice law in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, the United States District Court for the District of New Jersey, and the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania.

Chung K. Law, Clover Lane, Robert H. Goddard professor of mechanical and aerospace engineering at Princeton University, will receive the Heat Transfer Memorial Award from the American Society of Mechanical Engineers next month in Dallas.

The award, established in 1959, recognizes outstanding contributions to the field of heat transfer through teaching, research, design or publications.

Before joining the university in 1988, Dr. Law was associated with General Motors research laboratories, Northwestern University, and the University of California at Davis.

Elizabeth Speir, Snowden Lane, was recently honored for her community service by the Trenton chapter of the Top Ladies of Distinction, a national interracial educational and humanitarian organization.

In 1981, Ms. Speir taught medical English to Cambodian refugees on the Thai-Cambodian border. Widowed the same year, she operated a French-American travel agency in New York, until coming to Princeton where she founded the Nassau Gallery.

In 1982, she was instrumental in founding the LIFT after-school tutoring program, which, in conjunction with Princeton University, helped more than 600 children between the ages of six and 17.

Princeton resident Peter V. K. Funk will receive the 1997 Distinguished Alumni Award from the Montclair Kimberley Academy Alumni Association on October 18.

Mr. Funk, a native of Montclair, is known internationally for his column in the Reader's Digest, "It Pays to Increase Your Word Power." It is estimated the 10 billion people have read the feature since it first appeared in 1962.

After graduating from the Montclair Academy, Mr. Funk attended Princeton University, graduating in absentia, after joining the U.S. Marine Corps during the early stages of World War II.

Over the years, he took a number of graduate courses in linguistics and worked for various book and magazine publishers and on Wall Street. He founded Faith Today, an ecumenical religious magazine. He has written nine books, including an autobiography and vocabulary development books.

He also wrote the script for a television film My Six Loves, starring Debbie Reynolds and Cliff Robertson.

His grandfather founded Funk and Wagnalls, publisher of trade and reference books and various encyclopedias. His father was a poet and lexicographer who pioneered vocabulary-building techniques.

"My background is saturated with words," explains Mr. Funk. "I must have had a dictionary for a pillow."

Alison Harris, Southern Way, director of business development for Ford Farewell Mills and Gatsch Architects, has been elected to the Board of Directors of the Philadelphia Chapter of the Society for Marketing Professional Services. She will serve as chair of the Public Relations Committee for 1997-98.

A former managing director of McCarter Theatre, Ms. Harris is in charge of marketing and public relations strategies for the architectural firm.

Ms. Harris serves on the boards of the Mid-Atlantic Arts Foundation in Baltimore,

Alison Harris

Downtown New Jersey, Inc.; and Princeton Summer Theater. She is on advisory committees for McCarter Theatre and Terpsichore SAND in Frenchtown. She has a B.A. degree from Antioch College in Yellow Springs, Ohio.

OBITUARIES

El-Ahmadi I. Heiba, Balsam Lane, died October 1 in Princeton. Born in Egypt, he moved to Princeton in 1963.

Dr. Heiba obtained the B.Sc. from Alexandria University, Egypt, in 1948. He received a Ph.D. in chemistry from London University in 1952. From 1952-54 he was a senior lecturer at the Faculty of Science at A'In Shams University in Cairo. He came to America in 1955.

From 1955-58 he was a Phoenix Memorial Fellow at the Department of Chemistry at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor. He left academia in 1958 to become a supervisor of radiation chemistry and chemical dynamics at A.D. Little, Inc. In 1962 he joined Mobil as a group leader in product research at Mobil Research and Development Corporation in Princeton. From 1962 to 1982 he held various positions in chemical research at Mobil; from 1975-1982 he directed chemical research and development and technical planning at Mobil Chemical Company. After 1982 he served as a consultant for the World Bank.

Dr. Heiba established an international reputation in the petroleum, petrochemical and chemical industries. His contributions led to more than 120 patents and patent applications, as well as numerous technical publications and presentations. He instigated major discoveries in free-radical chemistry.

Dr. Heiba is survived by his wife and three sons.

The funeral was held Friday, October 3, at the Islamic Society of Central Jersey Mosque.

Interment followed in Makbarat As-Salaam Cemetery, Millstone Township.

Arrangements were under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Jessie Zullo, 85, died October 3 at Sunny Field Nursing Home, Cranbury.

Born in Carpinone, Italy, she lived in Princeton for 48 years.

Wife of the late Alfredo Zullo and mother of the late Dominick Zullo, she is survived by a son, John Zullo of Princeton, a sister, Amelia Perna of Colorado, three grandchildren, and six great-grandchildren.

A Mass of Christian Burial was held Monday at St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church. Burial followed at Princeton Cemetery.

Arrangements were by Kimble Funeral Home.

Velva Adelaide Hagens, 72, died October 7 at home of cancer. Born in Los Angeles, she grew up in East Randolph, N.Y., and had lived in Princeton since 1950.

Mrs. Hagens was a kindergarten teacher at Chapin School in Princeton. After retirement she taught at the Lewis Clinic for Educational Therapy, also in Princeton. She was a graduate of Cornell University and studied at Trenton State Teachers College.

Mrs. Hagens was a lifelong member of the Princeton Dog Training Club and was active for many years showing pure-bred dachshunds. She also belonged to the American Contract Bridge League. In 1952 she assisted her husband, Herbert H. Hagens, in starting the Hagens Recording Studio in Princeton.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by two sons and a daughter-in-law, Herbert O. and Adelaide B. Hagens of Kingston, and Peter R. Hagens of Princeton.

The service will be held Saturday, October 11, at 2 at Ewing Crematory Chapel, 78 Scotch Road, Trenton. Burial will be in East Randolph. Calling hours will be Thursday, October 9, from 6 to 9 at the family residence, 61 Lower Harrison Street. Arrangements are under the direction of Kimble Funeral Home.

Memorial contributions may be made to Hospice Memorial Fund, The Medical Center at Princeton Foundation, Inc., 253 Witherspoon Street, Princeton 08540-9914.

Sister Andre McLaughlin, 93, of Princeton, died October 3 at Newcomb Medical Center, Vineland. Born in Ireland, she was a resident of Our Lady of Princeton since 1969.

She was a nurse in charge of the infirmary at Our Lady of Princeton.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. William McIlroy of Belfast, Ireland, and many nieces and nephews.

A Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated Monday at Our Lady of Princeton, The Great Road. Father Birchall, CSC, officiated.

Burial was at the Sisters' Cemetery.

Arrangements were under the direction of Kimble Funeral Home.

Charles Edwin Badgett, 61, of Pennington, died October 4 at home.

Born in Maryville, Tenn., he was a longtime resident of Princeton and a recent resident of Pennington. Mr. Badgett was a graduate of the University of Tennessee.

For many years, he was vice president of sales and marketing for the Riber Division of Instruments SA in Metuchen.

He enjoyed carpentry, gardening, and gourmet cooking.

He is survived by his wife Deborah, his son Reid and daughter Alison of Pennington, son Kevin and daughters Sarah and Beth of Richmond, Va.

Calling hours will be Wednesday, October 8, from 5 to 8 at the Kimble Funeral Home, 1 Hamilton Avenue.

Memorial contributions may be made to the American Cancer Society, 3076 Princeton Pike, Lawrenceville 08648.

Graveside services will be held in Tennessee.

Bernard Engelbart, 73, of Worcester, Mass., died Monday at the University Commons long-term care facility after a brief illness.

Born in New York City, he lived in Princeton many years before moving to Worcester in March.

He earned a bachelor's degree at Cornell University and worked toward a master's degree in chemical engineering at Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute.

He retired in 1988 after working ten years as a computer analyst for Anzon Inc. of Philadelphia. He also worked more than 40 years as a research chemist for N.L. Industries in Hightstown.

He was instrumental in the development of polyvinyl chloride, which is used in electrical insulation, plumbing and other applications.

He was awarded three patents in the development and use of lead stabilizers in PVC manufacture. He also participated in the development of flame-retardant materials.

Son of the late Bernhard and Anna Engelbart, he is survived by a son, Alan B. of Emigrant, Mont.; a daughter, Diana F. Ferreras-Engelbart of West Boylston, Mass.; and a grandson.

Sesquicentennial Event At Methodist Church

The major sesquicentennial event at Princeton United Methodist Church, Nassau Street and Vandeventer Avenue, will take place Sunday, October 12, at both the 9:30 and 11 a.m. services.

Princeton United Methodist Church will have a special celebration of 150 years of ministry in Princeton. The highlight of both services will be a special anthem performed by the choirs and featuring an original commemorative composition by Composer Randall Bauer, a church member and resident of Carnahan Place.

The new bishop, Alfred Johnson, will preach at both services.

Mr. Bauer studied jazz improvisation and formal composition with Laurie Altman. He received a bachelor's degree in composition at the Peabody Conservatory of Music, and is currently pursuing his master's degree at Peabody.

His work has received many awards, most recently honorable mention in the ASCAP student composers' competition and a special award for excellence by Johns Hopkins University.

His compositions have received world premiers at the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C., at the ACDA Annual Convention in Philadelphia, and at Princeton University.

Randall Bauer

After the services there will be a sesquicentennial banquet at the Forrestal Hotel and Conference Center, with special recognition to 50-year members. Call the church for reservations, 924-2613.

Faculty, Administrators Join Princeton Seminary

The board of trustees of Princeton Theological Seminary has appointed three scholars to join the faculty beginning this fall, as well as four new members of the administrative staff.

The new faculty members are Ellen T. Charry, the Margaret W. Harmon Associate Professor of Systematic Theology; Robert C. Dykstra, assistant professor of pastoral theology; and Kenda Creasy Dean, assistant professor of youth, church, and culture.

In other actions, the Seminary's board promoted James F. Kay to the Joe R. Engle Chair of Homiletics and Liturgics, promoted Paul E. Rorem to the rank of professor of medieval church history, and promoted Joicy Becker-Richards to director of media services. It also accepted the retirement of James F. Armstrong as James Lenox Librarian and Ellen Myers as assistant for academic affairs, and awarded them emeritus/a status.

Bulletin Notes

The Annual Men's Day will take place at Mt. Pisgah AME Church, 170 Witherspoon Street, on Sunday, October 12, at 11 a.m.

Preacher will be the Rev. Jasper Daniels, Pastor of Mt. Zion AME Church, Bordentown.

REAL ESTATE
Notes

Valerie Sands has joined the Princeton office of Burgdorff Realtors, 264 Nassau Street.

A licensed realtor since 1982, Ms. Sands has spent the past two decades investing in real estate and renovating old homes. A million dollar producer and a member of the Mercer County Board of Realtors, Ms. Sands possesses an in-depth knowledge of new construction based on years of experience selling homes for a Princeton-based builder.

Valerie Sands

Before entering the real estate field, Ms. Sands worked for several local companies in the areas of client services, technical training, marketing communications, and direct mail.

A Princeton-area resident for more than 24 years, Ms. Sands is active with the Princeton Medical Center, the American Cancer Society, and the American Heart Association. She is extremely familiar with the market area.

Dorothy Brodka, a member of the sales team at the Princeton office of Burgdorff ERA, has earned the honor of leading sales agent for the month of August.

A 17-year resident of the Princeton, Ms. Brodka provides clients with an in-depth knowledge of her market territory, offering them information on school systems, recreational opportunities, and the advantages of living in the region.

Ms. Brodka has qualified for the Mercer County Million Dollar Club and the Burgdorff ERA President's Club. She is a qualifying member of the Mercer County top Producers Club. Her production results place her in the top two percent of more than 2,000 sales agents in Mercer County.

Anne Nosnitsky, from Coldwell Banker, 10 Nassau Street, was named top associate for the month of August. Ms. Nosnitsky listed and sold more properties than any other agent in the office.

Anne Nosnitsky

Ms. Nosnitsky is an antique homes specialist, a certified property specialist, and a relocations specialist. The holder of a brokers license, Ms. Nosnitsky believes in continuing education to remain in the forefront of a rapidly changing real estate industry.

Ms. Nosnitsky may be reached at 921-1411.

Phyllis Soriero a sales associate with the Princeton office of Burgdorff ERA, 264 Nassau Street, has won the top listing award with the office for August.

Ms. Soriero says that knowing the territory and the inventory is "an important part of being successful in real estate." She added that "being part of the professionals that are associated with the very active and growing Princeton Burgdorff ERA office is another asset that helps all of us serve our clients well."

Founded in 1958, Burgdorff ERA has more than 600 sales associates in 32 offices across New Jersey and eastern Pennsylvania. It is the largest franchised brokerage firm of ERA Franchise Systems, Inc.

Pat Cooke a real estate agent in the Princeton office of Coldwell Banker, 10 Nassau Street, recently attended the Coldwell Banker Elite Retreat in Boston, Mass.

A three-day event, by invitation only, the retreat is attended by a select 2 percent of Coldwell Banker agents throughout the country. They meet to attend seminars, hear keynote speakers, network, and exchange ideas.

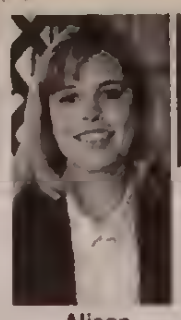
Ms. Cooke may be reached at 921-1411.

Kimberly Fischer has joined Weichert Realtors Princeton Junction office, 53 Princeton-Hightstown Road, as a sales associate.

Ms. Fischer is a member of the National Association of Realtors and the Mercer County Board of Realtors. "I chose to join Weichert because it offers the best sales support in the business," she said.

Ms. Fischer was previously employed as office manager/customer service representative with B&F Enterprises in Rahway.

She can be reached for real estate transactions at 799-3500.



Alison Holsman

Dorothy Brodka

Alison Holsman has joined the sales force of John T. Henderson's Hopewell Valley office, Route 31 South, Pennington.

According to managers Gary and Diane Kilpatrick, Ms. Holsman has the drive and know-how to expand the reach of the Hopewell Valley office.

Ms. Holsman's real estate career began in the Princeton office of Henderson Realtors in 1995. The following year she became a client coordinator for Pond View, the residential community off Pretty Brook Road. She also assisted the sales manager on the site.

A resident of Yardley, Pa., Ms. Holsman was previously a computer applications instructor at a software development company. "In real estate I'm reminded of what I loved so much about teaching computer applications," she noted. "The people are great and it's wonderful to be able to help someone achieve a goal."

Ms. Holsman may be reached at 737-9100.

New Listing

A touch of the contemporary refreshes the floor plan of this attractive Colonial, approached by a graceful circular drive and surrounded by luxuriant trees and shrubs. The 2-story foyer, with light flowing through its broad arched window, has full view of the dramatic living and dining areas. A walk-way of galaxy granite set into the gleaming hardwood floor is edged by handsome columns and brings definition to each of these spaces. French doors open to a pleasant library. Nearby, a wet bar and powder room. The spacious kitchen, with Corian counters and cooking island, has a skylit breakfast area and overlooks the family room with domed ceiling and fireplace. These rooms open to the sheltered patio. Adjacent, the large laundry room and backstairs. Also, on this level, a secluded master bedroom has a skylit sitting area with French door to the patio; a dressing area opens to the glamorous master bath. Upstairs, two sunny bedrooms share a hall bath and a gallery, with light spilling from the living room's clerestory windows, lead to two additional bedrooms and hall bath. In Lawrence Township with a Princeton address, close to schools and shopping. $539,000

"CHERRY GROVE"

This historic Lawrence estate, Circa 1730, has been cherished by the same family from 1770 to 1854 and again 1910 to present. An avenue of apple trees and box leads from the entrance gate to this lovely fifteen-room stone residence with its seven fireplaces and the romantic ambiance of yesterday combined with today's convenience.

The gracious and quietly elegant features found throughout are evident in the room pictured above. A gardener's paradise with a formal rose garden and gorgeous landscaped grounds, several outbuildings, tennis court and almost 15 acres of grounds make this Lawrence estate, with a Princeton address, very special. Offered at $1,175,000

Light floods this end-unit townhouse on a cul-de-sac in The Manors, an attractive enclave in Lawrence Township. A welcoming front porch leads to a foyer opening to the step-down living room. Here - a cathedral ceiling, fireplace and sliding glass doors to a broad deck looking out to a sweep of lawn and trees. The vaulted ceiling of the dining room, with delightful planter window, continues into the spacious skylit eat-in kitchen giving it an added dimension; oak cabinets compliment the white walls. A hall leads to the master bedroom with master bath and an additional bedroom and hall bath. The large basement offers potential as playroom or office - or both. Pleasant living close to the charming villages of Pennington and Lawrenceville. $149,000

"THE STOUT HOUSE"
Circa 1832

ONCE UPON A TIME... this charming farmhouse, Circa 1832, was warmed by fireplaces and the barn and outbuildings were used as a way of life. Today the fireplaces merely add to the unique charm of the house along with all the modern conveniences. In 1832 Zebulon Stout left his estate to his son, Abraham. Now step back in time as you enter — there is a spacious living room with fireplace, a large dining room also with fireplace and an eat-in kitchen with a door to the gracious front porch. There are three bedrooms, including master bedroom with fireplace, front and back stairs, a finished area in the basement, an outside entrance and a walk-in fireplace that once was the cooking fire. Features of this house exhibit several marks of the incoming Greek Revival style — a side-lit, transomed entrance, tapered architraves decorating doors and windows. The open-well staircase displays a balustrade of the period with an unusual feature, "the good morning stairs," a token of the greeting early risers would exchange.

Just seven miles from Princeton, a magnificent Sassafras tree stands sentry in front of the farmhouse, a country retreat on over seven acres with barn and outbuildings. This beautiful property is located in nearby Montgomery with a Skillman address. If a touch of the past seems perfect for your future, here's an opportunity to purchase a part of history. Offered at $379,000

HOUSE OF THE WEEK

Village of Lawrenceville

Greymont - this magnificent fieldstone house, built in 1909, is surrounded by five acres of gently sloping lawn and garden areas defined by trees and shrubs, many planted by the original owner. The handsome vestibule introduces the center hall with broad staircase. Throughout the house, tall recessed windows with deep sills fill high-ceilinged rooms with light. Pocket doors open to the gracious living room, with rich crown molding and fireplace and wall of windows with inviting window seat flanked by bookshelves. Adjacent, a sunny office and a music room with fireplace and doors to the gardens. The formal dining room has crown molding and a fireplace. An attractive renovated kitchen, with full-service butler's pantry and backstairs, opens to the spacious and airy new family room with windows on three sides and French doors to a garden. On the second floor, the master bedroom with corner fireplace and bath, and four bedrooms - two with fireplaces - and a hall bath. In its own setting, a delightful two bedroom cottage. All on a cul-de-sac offering privacy and seclusion.

The Professional Edge

ROMANCE — FANTASY — SEDUCTION

Not your average real estate jargon, but language that is just perfect to describe this exceptional 12 year old custom colonial on 1.25 acres just six miles from Princeton.

To the front of the property, across the road, are acres of rolling green pastures that can never be developed. Behind the house, on the 20'x40' deck, you can line up the chaises for relaxing or gracious summer entertaining. Just beyond the deck is a path of interlocking stones that bring you to the gazebo where the owners have placed their five person hot tub which is usable year round.

The house itself has been lovingly maintained and is in superb condition. Among its outstanding features are two fireplaces; Corian counters and ceramic tile flooring in the kitchen; oak hardwood throughout; central vac + central air cleaning system; a basement with a workshop, storage rooms, a finished bar/recreation room complete with oak bar and stools, all appliances and window treatments.

Come see the romance of this beautiful property for yourself. Located in Montgomery Township.

You can definitely plan on being comfortable in this attractive Colonial - you can certainly count on enjoying this quiet established neighborhood. A welcoming entry, with hardwood floor which continues throughout the house, opens to the living room with broad window and recessed lighting. French doors in the dining room, opening to a patio, frame a picture-perfect view of the deep secluded yard and its parklike setting. The kitchen, with new appliances and breakfast area, shares this serenely handsome view. Nearby, a powder room. Down a few steps, the pleasant family room with fireplace and built-in bookshelves, a hobby room with door to the outside, and the laundry room. On an upper level, the master bedroom with walk-in closet, master bath, and a study/bedroom. A few more steps lead to three cheery bedrooms and a hall bath with double vanities. In the Littlebrook area, one of Princeton's favorites. $369,000

Monthly payments are for 30-year conventional fixed rate mortgages as detailed below. Please ask about: Lower Down Payments • Lower Monthly Payments • Other Options

For purchase prices up to $268,375, monthly mortgage payments (principal + interest) quoted in our ads are to qualified buyers, based upon a 20% downpayment and a conventional 30-year fixed rate loan at 7.75% with 3 points, A.P.R. 8.07%. As an example, a $100,000 loan would mean 360 monthly payments of $716.42. For purchase prices from $268,375 to $625,000, the monthly payments are to qualified buyers based upon a 20% downpayment and calculated at 7.875% with 3 points on a "Jumbo" 30-year fixed rate mortgage with an A.P.R. of 8.20%. An example of a $500,000 loan would mean 360 monthly payments of $3,522.07. Figures herein are approximate and do not include property taxes, hazard insurance, or homeowners association dues for a condominium purchase. Interest rates quoted are as of April 2, 1997, and subject to change. Not responsible for typographical errors, while information is believed accurate, we request that the payment be validated with a mortgage provider prior to purchase.

THE BENJAMIN VAN KIRK PLANTATION HOUSE...
A Gracious Page from Montgomery's Past!

Close to Princeton and nestled between two of the area's leading golf courses, an impressive 200-year-old colonial on 3.49 acres preserves the cherished, rural way of life that has long been synonymous with our area!

Loved and cared for over the years by its divergent owners, who all relished the warmth and history of the welcoming house, the dwelling offers an updated way of life among its many private and public rooms.

The formal living and dining rooms from the original house offer beamed ceilings, dramatic fireplaces, and the lovely appointments one would expect. A charming farm-style kitchen done just a few years ago keeps the time-honored tradition.

The master suite of two rooms and bath offers a third fireplace and wonderful views over the southern field which are graced by an inviting pool and gazebo, not far from the stone terrace.

A landmark barn, several outbuildings, screened porch, wisteria-enhanced outdoor dining area, circular drive and many, many trees bestow upon the property its many features... all preserving an ambiance of life as it was once lived and as it should be lived!

Please call Peggy Henderson for an appointment to see for yourself. $795,000
